

HHH or Nixon? Take your pick

Nixon rolls over HHH in Monroe

STROUDSBURG — Richard M. Nixon scored a resounding victory in Monroe County Tuesday, sweeping aside the challenges of Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey and third party candidate George C. Wallace.

Running behind a well-oiled county Republican party, Nixon received 9,004 votes, while Humphrey trailed far behind with 6,774 votes, and Wallace polled 1,212.

The Nixon victory had been predicted by Dr. Evan C. Reese, who commanded a unified GOP party locally, while Humphrey was the victim of a local Democratic Party which has not yet healed serious divisions.

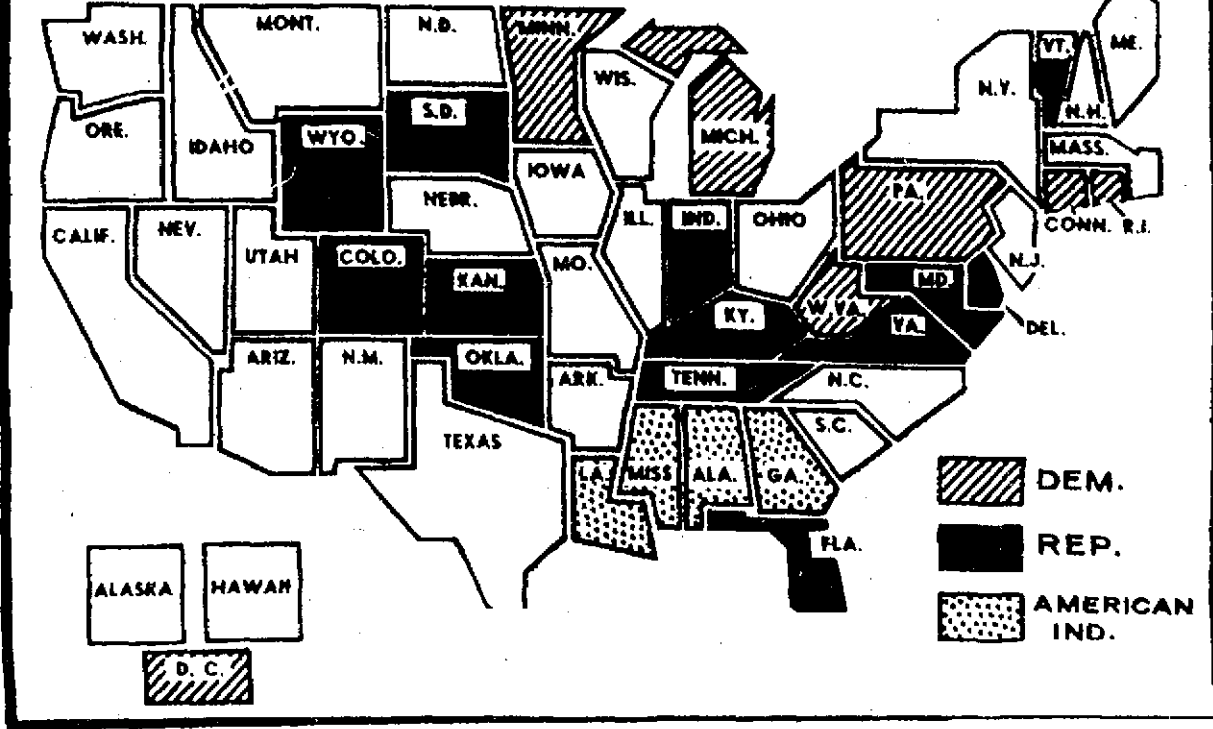

Nixon, who also swept the county when he was beaten by John F. Kennedy in 1960, received strong support throughout the county.

In fact, Nixon may increase his lead when the 720 absentee votes out in the county are tabulated Nov. 15.

A sign of the erosion of Democratic strength in the county came in such strongholds as Hamilton Twp., Stroud Twp., Middle Smithfield Twp., and Polk Twp.

The much-ballyhooed Wallace drive in the county failed to materialize to the degree predicted by backers of the American Independent Party candidate's backers.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey inched ahead of Richard M. Nixon Tuesday in popular votes but trailed in the crucial electoral count in the race for the presidency.

With 67 per cent of the national precincts reporting Humphrey had 20,663,109 popular votes or 42 per cent of the total; Nixon had 20,551,055 or 42 per cent and Wallace had 6,792,442 or 16 per cent.

Respective indicated electoral votes were 241, 249 and 45.

It will take a 270-vote majority of the electoral college to select the winner.

In the Humphrey-Nixon showdown, the percentage showed the vice president inching ahead of his GOP rival in the popular count by one percentage point — 42 to 41.

Nixon captured the electoral votes of the district of Columbia, Connecticut, Minnesota, Rhode Island, West Virginia, Maine and Massachusetts—a total of 50.

Humphrey won the electoral votes of the district of Columbia, Connecticut, Minnesota, Rhode Island, West Virginia, Maine and Massachusetts—a total of 50.

Wallace won in Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia and Louisiana for a total of 39.

Humphrey rode the crest of a smashing 270,000-vote majority in Philadelphia to win Pennsylvania's crucial 29 presidential electoral votes. But ticket-splitting voters dumped Democratic U. S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark in his bid for a third term.

Humphrey carried the important Keystone State exactly the same way John F. Kennedy did eight years ago in also defeating Republican Richard M. Nixon. Kennedy won Philadelphia by 331,060 votes.

Nixon, who narrowly lost New Jersey by 22,000 votes in 1960, reversed the picture Tuesday and collected the state's 17 crucial electoral college votes.

With 87 per cent of the precincts reporting, unofficial returns had Nixon carrying the state by between 30,000 to 45,000 votes.

Nixon and Humphrey ran nip and tuck Tuesday night in their race for California's crucial 40 electoral votes.

Nixon had been counting on a win in his native state, and it's become even more important to win here when Humphrey took New York and its 43 electoral votes.

With 1,445 of California's 21,590 precincts reporting, Nixon led 286,368 to Humphrey's 236,268. George Wallace had 38,010.

Humphrey held a thin lead over Republican Richard Nixon in the race for Washington State's nine presidential electoral votes Tuesday night.

With nine per cent of the precincts counted, Humphrey had 46,990 — 50 per cent against Nixon's 40,651 or 43 per cent. Third party candidate George Wallace followed with 6,889.

Eshback captures sixth House term

STROUDSBURG — Atty. Peter J. O'Brien, Mount Pocono, won Monroe County Tuesday, but the margin was not enough and Republican J. Russell Eshback, Bushkill, piled up huge majorities in Pike and Wayne counties and won his sixth term in the state's General Assembly.

O'Brien pulled a surprise in Monroe by beating veteran Eshback, 5,428 to 5,113. Two years ago, Eshback was an easy winner in Monroe over Stuart P. Pipher, then a county commissioner and now Monroe Democratic chairman.

In Wayne, Eshback polled 6,874 votes to O'Brien's, 2,866, with 44 of 48 precincts reporting.

In Pike with 10 of 14 precincts counted, Eshback received 3,026 votes and O'Brien, 1,352.

Late Tuesday night, O'Brien said, "I want to express my congratulations to Rep. Eshback on his re-election. I wish him every success."

"I want to express my appreciation to all those who worked so hard in my behalf during the campaign, in particular, my respective chairmen in each of the three counties and the Democratic party organization in each of the counties."

A particular thanks to the people of Monroe County who did enable me to carry my home county which was a great encouragement to me."

Mrs. Sloan received 55 per cent of the vote tabulated in the state, while Pasquerella was receiving 45 per cent of the vote.

Hannum, who was appointed to the Superior Court this year by Gov. Raymond Shafer, ran slightly behind the Republican ticket in the county.

Pasquerella, who served as co-chairman of the Local Government Committee during the Constitutional Convention, also benefited by the Republican sweep in the county.

Both Cercone and Mrs. Sloan held substantial leads early this morning with 58 per cent of the statewide vote tabulated.

Cercone had 52 per cent of the vote, while Hannum received 48 per cent.

Schweiker dethrones Clark; Rooney retains House seat

STROUDSBURG — United States Representative Fred B. Rooney was one of only three Democrats who won Monroe County Tuesday and the incumbent Democrat went on to score a 36,374-vote victory in the 15th District.

Rooney, who won his third, two-year term, beat his Republican opponent, Lehigh County Sheriff Paul Henderson in Monroe, Lehigh and Northampton.

According to complete, but unofficial returns, Rooney polled 104,212 votes; Henderson, 67,838, and Peter Cohen, a Monroe County resident running in the Common Sense Party, 2,324.

In Monroe, Rooney received, 8,165; Henderson, 7,864, and Cohen, 341.

In Northampton, Rooney's home county, the incumbent received 48,748; Henderson, 24,933, and Cohen, 1,175.

In Henderson's home county of Lehigh, Rooney received 47,289; Henderson, 35,941, and Cohen 1,088.

Rooney, who has been a strong supporter of the Tocks Island project and who lost Monroe last election, was expected to win easily over Henderson.

Early this morning, Rooney said, "The vote was heart-warming and an overwhelming vote of confidence."

"Monroe County will be a major concern on my part, with the completion of Tocks Island high on my list of priorities."

In Monroe, Rooney overcame that Republican trend. Nixon won the county by more than 2,000 votes, while Rooney, running in a defeated party, beat Henderson by 299 votes.

Kowalyshyn tops Becker in 138th

STROUDSBURG — According to complete, but unofficial returns, incumbent Democrat Russell Kowalyshyn Tuesday beat Republican Russell Becker, 11,571 to 7,993, in their battle for state representative in the 138th District.

The Northampton Borough Democrat was able to buck the Republican trend in Monroe County and beat his Republican opponent, 3,001 to 2,987.

In Northampton County, Kowalyshyn beat Becker, who lives in Moore Twp., 8,570 to 5,026.

The only interesting part of the contest was Kowalyshyn's ability to win in Monroe County, where he lost two years ago.

Kowalyshyn gained friends in Monroe during his fight for legislation which would allow the Bethlehem Water Authority to make payments in lieu of taxes to county townships and the Pocono Mountain School District for land in the authority's Tunkhannock watershed.

E. S. resident struck by car

EAST STROUDSBURG — A 42-year-old East Stroudsburg man was hospitalized Tuesday night for serious injuries sustained when he was struck by a car as he crossed S. Courtland St.

Russell LaBar of 186 Jefferson St., was struck by a car operated by Joseph Campfield, 36, of 42 Kistler St., East Stroudsburg. LaBar was reported crossing South Courtland St. from the CLU Club towards the ACME parking lot according to East Stroudsburg Police.

Police did not give further details and are continuing their investigation.

Damage to the Campfield car was limited to the hood and grill at $35.

STROUDSBURG — Republican Richard S. Schweiker, with strong support from area sportsmen, beat United States Sen. Joseph S. Clark, 9,238 to 6,977, in Monroe County in their battle for Clark's senate seat.

Schweiker, who was endorsed by the sportsmen for his stand on gun control legislation, was the top vote-getter in the county.

Schweiker ran slightly ahead of the Republican totals, which won for every GOP candidate except three.

The Montgomery County congressman took an early lead in the county and kept piling it up.

With the help of sportsmen, he won in such traditional Democratic strongholds as Barrett, Middle Smithfield, Hamilton and Stroud Townships.

Schweiker, 43, hammered at Clark's position on Vietnam and the key gun control legislation.

Schweiker also is a strong advocate of draft revision and gave the impression that Clark, at 68, was too old to expound the needs of Pennsylvania in the senate.

For Clark, the defeat came after two terms in the senate. Clark burst onto the national scene in 1952, when he became the first Democrat to be elected mayor of Philadelphia in 67 years.

Statewide with 55 per cent of the vote counted, Schweiker polled 1,330,000 votes to Clark's 1,250,000. Schweiker's campaign manager predicted his candidate would carry the state by 250,000 votes.

State treasurer, superior court

Sloan, Cercone gain favorable nods

Grace M. Sloan

STROUDSBURG — Republican candidates for Superior Court and State Treasurer were included in a Republican sweep in Monroe County during Tuesday's general election.

In a battle for a seat on the appellate court, Judge John B. Hannum beat Democrat Judge William F. Cercone, 8,796 to 7,139.

Frank J. Pasquerella, a Johnsonstown businessman, beat Grace M. Sloan in their fight for state treasurer, 8,402 to 7,589.

Both Cercone and Mrs. Sloan held substantial leads early this morning with 58 per cent of the statewide vote tabulated.

HHH votes in tiny, remote hall

WAVERLY, Minn. (AP) — A handful of proud neighbors watched Hubert H. Humphrey vote in a tiny, remote township hall Tuesday. The vice president and Democratic candidate for president then retired to the quiet of his nearby lakeshore home to rest.

The vote that the vice president laughingly told reporters "was a secret," was cast in Marysville township hall, an old wooden building.

Humphrey calls the tiny community of Waverly, 40 miles west of Minneapolis, his home town, but he is a voting resident of the township which, like Waverly, is near his rambling lake retreat called the Triple HHH ranch.

The vice president's right hand wore bandages from bruises received shaking hands in the tumultuous Los Angeles campaign's home stretch.

Humphrey was in such good spirits after the Los Angeles welcome and the marathon telecast from that city which wound up his campaign that he strode up and down the plane returning him home early this morning, talking and chatting as some members of his staff slept.

Of 450 registered voters in Marysville township, the vice president and Mrs. Humphrey were the 41st and 42nd to vote Tuesday.

S. Vietnam delays move on bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government first agreed to participate in Paris peace talks, then withdrew its commitment but President Johnson went ahead with the bombing halt, anyway, informants here said Tuesday.

Johnson delayed his action at least 24 hours, according to U.S. authorities, in an effort to get President Nguyen Van Thieu to go through with the original agreement on the bombing halt and the expansion of the talks to include representatives of Saigon and the Viet Cong.

When this effort by Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker failed, the bombing halt and the plans for the expanded talks were announced.

Sources close to the President said he felt it necessary to act rather than risk collapse of the entire new move toward peace.

Thieu did not object to the bombing halt in itself, these informants say, but declared that his government should have assurance from North Vietnam that the National Liberation Front—the Viet Cong's political arm in South Vietnam—would not be brought into the Paris meeting with any claim that it was a separate delegation there to speak for South Vietnam.

This issue has been behind South Vietnam's decision not to attend the session in Paris scheduled for today—a decision in Saigon which led in turn to the postponement of today's meeting by the U.S. and North Vietnam.

Johnson knew when he made his announcement of the bombing halt last Thursday night that he faced a difficult and delicate problem with South Vietnam.

Captured foe document orders step up in terrorism, sabotage

SAIGON (AP) — A captured enemy document contained orders from Hanoi to step up the fighting, terrorism and sabotage in South Vietnam despite the U.S. halt of all attacks on North Vietnam, the government reported Tuesday.

A U.S. military spokesman said American intelligence still had the document under study to determine its meaning, origin and authenticity.

Both the Viet Cong and North Vietnam have sworn to continue the fighting while enlarged peace talks go on in Paris.

The document was seized a few days ago and disclosed that Hanoi had decided to how to its course of violence even before the U.S. halt was announced, the South Vietnamese political warfare department reported.

Regional and provincial political commissars were told to increase the guerrilla movement and "military, political and enemy troop action activities throughout the territory of South Vietnam after the United States stops the bombing of North Vietnam," the government quoted the document as saying.

"In the political field," the document continued, "the provincial commissars have to push into action several armed propaganda teams into the towns and cities in order to carry out on a large scale their program of terrorism, assassination and sabotage."

In the "enemy troop action" field, political commissars were told to increase propaganda to sow confusion in the South Vietnamese army "to lull them with illusory peace solutions."

The daily communiqué from U.S. Command headquarters reported 80 "scattered small unit contacts with light casualties" throughout South Vietnam.

The U.S. Command reported that preliminary figures indicated American combat casualties since last Friday, when President Johnson ordered a halt to all attacks on North Vietnam, had continued at about the same level of the past two weeks.

In the week ending Oct. 26, the command said, 189 Americans died in battle, compared to 100 the week before that. The deaths are the lowest in 14 months.

Saigon was quiet after two small demonstrations Tuesday supporting President Nguyen Van Thieu's decision to boycott enlarged peace talks in Paris.

Thieu has said his government will never agree to sit with representatives of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front enjoying equal status at the peace table.

Nixon waits for returns in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon returned to his adopted New York from his native California Tuesday to await the nation's verdict on his second attempt in eight years to become president of the United States.

Nixon and his family landed at Newark Airport in New Jersey, then motored to New York City, where the Republican candidate watched the returns.

As he stepped from his jet plane with his wife, Pat, daughters Tricia and Julie, and Julie's fiancé, David Eisenhower, the candidate waved to a small crowd and said, "See you later. Bye."

Before the departure from California, a top Nixon aide said of the election outlook: "It looks okay."

He predicted Nixon would win with a plurality of three to five million votes, the figure Nixon himself has been citing.

The final Gallup poll showed Nixon leading Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, 42 to 40 per cent. It gave third party candidate George C. Wallace 14 per cent and reported 4 per cent undecided.

But the Louis Harris Associates final poll showed Humphrey leading, 43 to 40 per cent with Wallace having 13 per cent. It also found 4 per cent of the voters undecided.

Nixon arranged to receive the voting returns in a suite in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Towers.

In the ballroom below, workmen put the finishing touches on decorations for what Nixon's aides were calling "the victory celebration tonight." Thousands of colored balloons clustered under the ceiling above colored photographs of Nixon and his running mate, Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland. A large motion picture screen was set up in one corner of the ballroom.

Trailer fire claims mother, three children

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A fire swept through a rented trailer in North Bloomfield Tuesday, killing a mother and her three children. Judy Poole apparently was trying to rescue one of the children when she died.

State fire inspectors will look into the cause of the blaze that killed Mrs. Poole, 27, and her children, Stanley, 3, David, 17 months, and Tammy, 5.

Orwell firemen found Stanley's body under that of his mother, who was partially out of bed. The youngster was fully clothed.

Tammy was found in the front bedroom of the four-bedroom trailer on Ohio 45 and David was in another bedroom.

Orwell Fire Chief John Kell-ogg said a defective oil heater may have started the fire that caused $5,700 damage to the trailer, rented a week and a half ago from Davis Swistock of North Bloomfield. It was burned down to the metal.

Eighteen Orwell firemen responded to the blaze from neighboring Ashtabula County.

Pa. family recaptures escapees

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A Mennonite family of four, which doesn't believe in violence, overpowered two prison escapees who forced their way into their rural home Monday night. Tuesday, they thanked "a higher power" for helping them.

The two escapees from West Virginia State Prison, who had one rifle between them, later were arrested by State Police. They were charged with robbing two men at a migrant labor camp near the Mennonite home of Homer Rosenberry in St. Thomas, a small south central Pennsylvania community.

A third escapee from the prison, identified as Dale Gordon, 21, of Fairmont, W.Va., later was arrested in Chambersburg, charged with vagrancy and held in Franklin County prison. State Police said they also would charge him with armed robbery in the same holdup.

Mrs. Rosenberry, 56, said she, her husband, 53, their son Mark, 17 and daughter Mary Jane, 15 were eating dinner when the escapees pulled up in a car about 5:30 p. m.

The two, identified by police as Elmer Robinson, 36, of Lewisville, Ky. and Albert Sueck, 26, of McComas, W. Va., made Mark let them in, Mrs. Rosenberry said.

"They said they wanted us to hide them," she said. "They said they had just killed two people and it won't take long to kill four more."

This was an apparent reference to Billy Dickson, 58 and Irvin Simmers, 65, both of St. Thomas, who the two escapees are accused of robbing before they arrived at the Rosenberries'.

Dickson told police he was grazed by a bullet during the holdup, and both men reported they were beaten with a rifle.

Mrs. Rosenberry then phoned police and another son, Martin, 28, who helped hold the men until troopers arrived.

"I didn't like to do it," Rosenberry said. "It's a little bit against my convictions. We believe in nonresistance. I had in mind to see it through and do as they wanted us to. But I had the opportunity, and at the spur of the moment I acted."

To which Mrs. Rosenberry added: "I believe a higher power was helping us."

First returns in country

WASHINGTON (AP) — There were the usual very early, fragmentary returns to whet the appetite of citizens Tuesday.

For example, Dixville Notch, N.H., which has been solidly Republican in the past, gave eight votes to Humphrey to four to Nixon. But Ellsworth, N.H. stayed Republican and gave all its 11 votes to Nixon.

All 12 voters in Point Aux Barques, Mich., cast their votes for Nixon. In 1964 the community went for Republican Barry Goldwater by an 11-1 vote over Lyndon Johnson.

LBJ votes for successor at co-op

JOHNSON CITY, Tex., (AP) — President Johnson voted for another president Tuesday at an electric co-op he helped establish, a block down the street from the white frame house where he spent much of his boyhood.

Johnson has been touting his vice president, Hubert H. Humphrey, as a man who deserves the faith and support of the American people, and as the one man best qualified to take over the White House next January.

He wasn't answering any questions Tuesday about how he marked his ballot—or about anything else.

Even though he was ignoring questions, he was amiable, relaxed and chatty.

Election box No. 4 at Johnson City was open for ballot business at 7 a.m. Two hours later the President and Mrs. Johnson arrived from the LBJ ranch 15 miles to the west, with Johnson at the wheel and his pet pup, Yuki, in the back seat of a white Continental.

They passed a marble plaque on the low, L-shaped building of native limestone proclaiming that the Pedernales Electric Cooperative Inc. is "a product of the faith, ability and foresight of Lyndon Baines Johnson, President of the United States of America, while congressman, Tenth District."

The President and First Lady motored back to the ranch, where aides said it looked like a quiet day—a good bit of it to be spent in front of a television,

Pike County has heaviest voter turnout; Wayne high

MILFORD — Voters in Pike and Wayne Counties went to the polls in droves Tuesday with Pike County witnessing the heaviest voter turnout ever, according to some officials.

In numerous Pike County voting districts, half or slightly more than half of the registered voters cast their ballot by 1 p.m.

Although no conclusive check could be made by districts in Wayne County, officials reported a heavy and steady turnout of voters.

GOP counties
There was much speculation early in the day as to what voters in the two historically Republican counties would do. Wayne County has 10,025 registered Republicans while Democrats have 3,730 on the rolls.

Pike County, which went all the way for Goldwater in 1964 as did its neighboring Wayne County, has 4,507 registered Republicans and 2,279 Democrats.

Election poll officials, counting the weatherman as their friend, expected most of the 6,998 registered Pike County voters to cast their ballots.

About one-third of the voters in Milford Borough cast their ballot in the Pike County Courthouse before 1:30 p.m. A total 250 of the 708 registered voters had voted early in the day. The first at the polls to cast her ballot was Mrs. Shirley Riordan.

Steady stream

In Delaware Township, a total 1,202 voters cast their ballots early in the day with a steady stream of the 502 registered township voters appearing in the Dingman's Ferry Firehouse voting center.

Mrs. Nita W. Snearly of Dingman's Ferry was the first to cast her ballot in Delaware Township. The oldest voter in the township, Fred B. Hotalen, 81, had not appeared early in the day, but was expected to cast his vote in the afternoon. He will be 82 on November 10.

Eshback votes

Turnout of voters in Lehman Township was also the largest ever. A total 175 persons, including State Rep. Russell Eshback—cast their votes early in the day. There are 407 registered voters, but poll officials said some persons had moved from the township and that their names have not yet been stricken from the record.

William J. Schoonover, 73, one of the oldest Lehman Township voters, cast his ballot Tuesday. He has been voting since 1920. He said he missed the 1916 election since he had gone to Canada.

Schoonover said he hasn't picked all of the presidential winners since 1920. "but I got most of them." He hasn't missed an election since 1920.

Miss Helen Cook, 88, is the oldest voter in Lehman Township.

Wayne County officials said early Tuesday evening that the absentee ballot totalled 586, but that some emergency ballots were still coming in.

There wasn't a crowd of people inside nor outside the old Schoppee School at Fire Tower Road in Milford Township Tuesday to cast ballots. The schoolhouse, with the old pot-belly stove inside, was the voting precinct for former Pennsylvania Gov. Gifford Pinchot.

Depuy must resign county post if elected auditor general

MILFORD — Warner Depuy will have to resign his post as Pike County Commissioner if he receives a statewide plurality over Democrat Robert Casey for the post of Auditor General.

Pennsylvania law prohibits a man from holding two elected offices. Currently Depuy, a Milford native, holds the elected position of Pike County Commissioner and the appointed position as State Secretary of Revenue.

According to law, Depuy's seat on the Board of Commissioners will have to be filled by Court of Common Pleas Judge Arlington W. Williams.

The law specifies that the court should appoint a registered Pike County resident who is of the same party as the person resigning the post. This means that Judge Williams would have to appoint a Republican.

Indications are that the Pike County Republican Committee will suggest a successor for Depuy. The court may or may not follow the suggestion, however.

The successor would also be appointed to fill Depuy's unexpired term. The term would expire in 1972. Depuy has been a Pike County Commissioner for several years.

New road turned over to township

BLOOMING GROVE — An approximate one mile section of highway was turned over to the Blooming Grove Township Supervisors by the state.

The section of highway is an exit road from Interstate 84 at Legislative Route 410.

Supervisors received official notification for the transfer during their regular meeting Monday night.

In other action, supervisors also reported that resurfacing and widening of Route 412 is complete. Construction was completed by Keystone Paving and Construction Co. of Lake Ariel.

It was also announced that supervisors will participate in the Pike County Townships Officials Association meeting scheduled at 9:45 a.m. Thursday in Milford.

Depuy was re-elected last November. He received 2,933 votes. The other commissioners are George Coultz, Republican and Jay Schroder, Democrat. All three were re-elected last year.

When Depuy first ran for elective office for a seat in the House of Representatives, his father, a banker, told him:

"Two things, son. First, somebody's got to get beat, and it may be you. And, remember, you can't do it for a living."

The lean, blue-eyed Pennsylvanian entered the General Assembly at 24. He left seven years later to "make a living" by means of the farm seed business and two banks in which he acquired interests over the years.

Depuy returned to government in 1957 as deputy state treasurer, dropped out again in 1961 and served as executive deputy secretary of revenue from 1963 to 1964.

When Gov. Shafer was elected, Depuy was appointed Secretary of Revenue.

A self-admitted fiscal conservative, "I'm probably an Eisenhower Republican," he says. Depuy brought computerization and pre-audit procedures to government in the Revenue Department.

Depuy was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1939 with a degree in economics. He is married to the former Virginia Zaloom of New York. They have two sons and two daughters.

Bangor sells bonds for its incinerator

BANGOR — Bonds for Bangor's new $303,500 incinerator currently under construction will be sold at 10 a.m. today at the Merchants National Bank, Allentown.

The construction firm of Collins & Maxwell, Easton, began grading and excavation work this week for the foundation.

Announcement for the sale of bonds was made during the regular meeting of the Bangor Borough Council Monday night.

Councilmen received a tentative 1969 budget of $242,508 from Larry Krauss of the finance committee. A budget meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Councilmen Monday instructed their solicitor, J. Lawrence Davis, to write to the Roseto Borough Sewage Authority concerning complaints about sewage construction done by its company in Bangor.

In other action, Councilmen approved making South Main Street one way north.

Group insurance for full-time police was also approved at $12,000 in addition to the current $50 weekly sick and health coverage. Purchase for a new police car will also be advertised.

Official action was taken to transfer borough property to the Borough Authority. The property is the site for the new incinerator.

Mayor William Scott also announced that a new industry will move into the area within two weeks.

Absentee ballots total 371

MILFORD — There are a total 371 absentee ballots which will have to be tabulated in Pike County.

The absentee ballots will be counted November 15. The additional 371 absentee ballots may not have any real effect on the outcome of any race since there are no actual local county contests.

The ballots, however, could make a decisive difference as far as total county vote tallies are concerned, particularly in the State Representative race between Republican Russell Eshback and Democrat Peter O'Brien.

West End voting active

KRESGEVILLE — Voters from the West End townships kept their election boards active, voting hard and fast during the highest registration in general elections.

Kenneth Hawk, election board judge for Polk Township at Kresgeville Elementary School, reported 572 registered voters (385 Democrat and 187 Republican) voted. Forty per cent of the votes were cast within the first eight hours with the first cast by Henry Schieb, Jr., Kunkletown R. D. 1, Republican committeeman.

Hawk said they were voting fast compared to the primary where they take more time to make up their mind although he remembers one voter saying she still did not know who to vote for before she entered the booth.

Russell Keller, minority inspector, could recall when there were only 40 Republicans registered in the township at the time Harry Mackes was commissioner some 30 years ago.

Some of the senior voters were reported to have a period of adjustment for the new voting machines when they replaced the write-in ballot some 10 years ago.

Only four years ago, there was power trouble during the afternoon of election day creating some confusion for an hour or two before the voting booth was in operation again.

Among the old-time voters who came to cast their ballot, were Mrs. Lydia Deibert, 94, of Gilbert; Monroe Keller, 91; Joseph Prantz, 87; Joseph Annewalt, 86, and Lloyd Arnold, 80.

Also, Emma Trach, 79, and William Kreimoyer, 77, who haven't missed a general election since 1938.

They all remember the old election house in back of the American Hotel in Kresgeville and the one that still stands near the Midway Pines General Store, when the ballots were handwritten and counted until 4 a.m.

Hawk said most of the increase in registration came from new families moving in from the metropolitan areas, apparently increasing Republican registration.

Lee Hoffman, election judge for Chestnut Hill Township at the elementary school, reported 1,009 registered voters with 457 Republicans, 538 Democrats and 14 Independents. By 5 p.m. 532 votes were cast.

Mrs. Elwood H. Wetzel, election board official for more than 30 years remembers using the Storm Hill election house along with the oldest voter on the list, Lizzie Petherman, 85. Her husband was the first to cast the vote for the day.

Incumbent State Representative J. Russell Eshback casts his ballot in his native Lehman Township early Tuesday.

Tom Conley, a resident of Dingmans Ferry for the past two years, enters the voting booth at Dingmans Ferry Firehouse, to cast his vote

Portland renews YDC opposition

PORTLAND — Opposition to the construction of the $5 million Youth Development Center (YDC) between Bangor and Roseto Boroughs was unanimously reaffirmed by the Portland Borough Council.

Councilmen took the action during their regular monthly meeting Monday night. Portland was one of the many State Belt communities which had voiced their opposition to the Center in Harrisburg last year.

Communities opposed

Other communities opposed are: Roseto, Pen Argyl, Upper Mt. Bethel Township, Washington Township and the Bangor and Pen Argyl Area School Districts.

Opposition to construction of the Youth Center, designed to rehabilitate 200 youths, was aroused again last week by Roseto Mayor George Giaquinto.

Since then, another formal opposition group was formed called the "Women's Opposition Committee."

After the renewed wave of protests, State Representatives Russell Kowalyszyn and Philip Ruggiero wrote a joint letter to Gov. Raymond P. Shafer urging him to reconsider the matter of having a Development Center erected in the State Belt.

The Portland Council authorized Mayor William Golden and Councilman Neil Brodt to represent the borough in meetings of groups opposing the center.

In other action, councilmen adopted an amendment to the Portland Planning and Zoning Ordinance. The amendment, ordinance 148, will permit construction of sectional ranch homes within the borough.

Barbara Herman

Portland woman given college post

PORTLAND — Miss Barbara Herman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Herman Sr. of Northampton Street, Portland, has been selected Index Editor of the 1969 yearbook, the Zenith.

She is presently a sophomore at High Point College.

High Point College is located in High Point, N.C., a city with a population of 72,000. The college is now under the sponsorship of the Methodist Church.

Miss Herman is also a member of Alpha Delta Theta Sorority, the Fellowship Teams, the Student National Education Association, and is Secretary-Treasurer of the College Sunday School Class.

She was graduated from Bangor Area High School in June 1967. She is an Elementary Education Major.

Shohola man freed on bail

MILFORD — Gilbert L. Cran, 30, of Shohola, is free on $500 bail after being arrested Tuesday by State Police from Milford on charges of larceny and receiving stolen goods.

Cran was taken before a justice of the peace in Milford where he posted bail.

Finally.

Now you can do what you never did before in a Volkswagen.

Nothing.
Yup. We've gone and put a fully-automatic transmission in a Volkswagen.

In fact, we put it in two Volkswagens (as an option). The Fastback. And Squareback.

So now you can drive anywhere in a VW without having to shift for yourself.

Just put the lever in 3. (What everyone else calls DRIVE.) And drive. Like you would any regular car.

Except with our automatic, you'll have to do one thing you don't do with someone else's automatic.

Stay away from gas stations more often.

Because you'll need gas less often. One gallon takes you not 10 miles. Or 15.

But 25 miles.
So now you can do what you always did before in a Volkswagen.

Save money. Automatically.

Where are peace groups?

The United States has borne the brunt of the anti-war pro-peace factions for the past two years. Uncle Sam was accused of prolonging the fighting in Vietnam for his own selfish interests.

However, activities of the past several days indicate that the United States is apparently the only nation that really wants to see the fighting end in Vietnam.

It is also quite apparent that several nations are now busily trying to launch additional warfare in the Middle East.

Where are these peaceniks now? Why aren't we having demonstrations against the nations that are actually prolonging the war in Vietnam? Why aren't we having a pro-United States tribute?

These questions should be answered now, as both North Vietnam and South Vietnam are reluctant to appear at the same conference for peace. Other nations are also questioning Uncle Sam's decision to halt the bombing in North Vietnam.

As of this moment, the North Vietnamese, Viet Cong and other Communist elements are most anxious for the United States to continue making commitments — while they carry out war against an enemy that is going all out to bring about peace.

Actions of this type may have been expected in Asia and even in other sections of the world where the Communist party has spread its control.

But, where are the anti-war demonstrators who turned cities like Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, New York, Los Angeles, Newark and Philadelphia into battlegrounds?

These were the groups that opposed acts of violence by the United States. But, they are strangely absent from the scene now that the United States is the only nation in the world that is making any concrete moves toward peace.

Rapid growth pattern

Education is always an interesting subject and its interest continues to mount as the years are torn from the calendar.

One of the most interesting of items dealing with education in Pennsylvania has been the growth of the 13 Pennsylvania State Colleges, of which East Stroudsburg State College is one.

Gov. Raymond P. Shafer recently addressed the State College Trustees Assn. and pointed out that it takes $95 million annually to support the 58,000 students now enrolled in these 13 colleges.

During the past four years the full-time enrollment of the state colleges has increased by 70 per cent to a record 58,290 students. Next year the enrollment is expected to rise to approximately 64,000.

In 1959 the 14 state colleges employed a complement of 2,500 persons. This year the complement stands at 7,400.

The 2,500 figure included Indiana State University, while the 7,400 total covers only 13 state colleges, rather than the 1959 total of 14.

Shafer also pointed out during this recent address to trustees that the current freshman classes are made up of more than 75 per cent of students who were in the upper two fifths of their class in high school.

Student enrollment and campus expansion have been key developments at all state colleges and not just a few. The calibre of education has been improving by leaps and bounds and so has the calibre of student attracted to these schools.

As far as the future is concerned the sky appears to be the limit as far as well rounded education, good campus life and preparation for the future are concerned.

Properly guided growth governs the success of each of the institutions listed among the state colleges.

Stamp news

Two more new issues

By RAY PATTON

The new 20-cent air mail stamp will have first day sale Nov. 22 in New York City. This is to apply to the new air mail rate to Europe which has been in effect since July.

The United States will honor the Human Rights Year by issuing a 13-cent air letter sheet Dec. 3 at Washington, D.C. As far as we now know this is the last issue scheduled for 1968.

Collectors have had quite a year of U.S. stamps, cards and letter sheets. There have been 40 issued besides the 10 Historic Plaque which makes a total of 50 for the year, plus those not yet to be released. So in 1968 we have had one new issue each week.

The United Nations Human Rights set of six and 13-cent values will be released Nov. 22.

Care necessary

WASHINGTON — The breakthrough in the Vietnam peace talks—which Moscow helped bring about—should encourage the newly elected president to move promptly to find out if Russia will join the United States to cut back the nuclear arms race.

The issue isn't whether negotiations are desirable or possible. Both sides show willingness to talk and there is no significant dissent in the United States. Richard Nixon agreed. Hubert Humphrey agreed. George Wallace agreed.

The issue is whether to move ahead quickly or to delay to show disapproval of the Russian occupation of Czechoslovakia.

The Czech invasion has chilled U.S.-Soviet relations—but should we delay the talks and risk losing the opportunity to reduce the peril of nuclear war and the saving of billions of dollars?

Delay is unwise, unhelpful and unsafe. For these two superpowers to keep glaring at each other's rising mountains of missiles instead of talking about how to control and reduce them isn't going to help anybody.

Now is the time because both sides feel they can deal from strength, both are starting new antiballistic missile systems and a heavy cost could be saved by agreement. This moment should not be lost. It could be fatal to neglect it.

It could be equally fatal to assume that the Soviets are interested in anything except what is good for them and what is bad for the United States. This is why we cannot accept any mutual arms control and reduction unless its execution can be inspected and verified every inch of the way.

There is plenty to justify not accepting the Soviet word by itself on anything that cannot be inspected continuously. Examples:

1—Moscow's broken words: by invading Czechoslovakia, Russia broke this pledge to its Communist neighbors and violated the Charter of the United Nations. The Soviet Union pledged "the elimination of the use and spread of force and of all forms of interference in the affairs of other nations." And in the United Nations Charter Moscow committed itself to respect the "territorial and political integrity" of all nations.

2—Moscow's new "law": in defending their occupation of Czechoslovakia the Soviets proclaimed a new "law" that to Moscow is higher and more binding than those signed with other governments. They claimed the Soviet Union has the "right" to intervene in any socialist country it finds departing from Soviet communism and that the "laws of the class struggle" supercedes "bourgeois" treaties.

3—The Kennedy Memo: this document, published in McCall's magazine, recounting the Cuban missile crisis as he witnessed it hour by hour, was written by Robert Kennedy on the basis of his firsthand knowledge and diaries. It is a persuasive warning of the unworthiness of the Soviet Union's solemn words.

Why? Because it cites in its cumulative narrative 19 bland, bold and brazen lies told to the president of the United States and his brother by the Soviet premier, foreign minister and ambassador "on the instructions of Nikita Khrushchev" before, during and at the peak of the Cuban missile crisis.

They lied about what they planned, what they were doing and what they did. They lied when they hoped to deceive and they lied when they knew they may have failed to deceive. Let's not fool ourselves that the Soviets can be relied upon to keep their word.

Their words have to be checked against their deeds. This means that while we should promptly negotiate in good faith to de-escalate the arms race, we must not trust our security to anything but verifiable commitments.

Important matters

WASHINGTON — Now that the election is out of the way, we can move along to more important things, such as almanacs for 1969. At the moment all sorts of them are coming in here (each implying it's the oldest and most reliable) and I've selected one at random for review.

This is "Baer's Agricultural Almanac" and, according to the jacket, this is its 144th year. Inaugural Day will be clear and cold, or at least that's Baer's prediction and, considering that the inaugural comes in January, I wouldn't be surprised if that turned out to be at least half-right.

Skipping over the ads telling how to get rid of ear wax, we come to some household remedies. Such as this: "Dandelion roots, collected in August, can be used in an infusion for attacks of biliousness." That's just fine, but what happens if you become bilious in, say, November?

Do you wait until August to gather dandelion roots to combat it? Or does this mean that every August you should gather as many dandelion roots as possible and store them away — in a cool, dry place — against the day when biliousness racks your body? I do wish the almanac were more explicit.

We'll test spot

You may be interested to know that the wettest spot in the world is Mt. Waialeale, in Kauai, Hawaii. The rainfall averages 471 inches a year there. That's one place where it won't be clear and cold on Inaugural Day.

The almanac contains tables and charts with signs of the Zodiac on them and I presume these are guides as to when to plant crops or your window boxes. However, I confess it's completely beyond me. In the front of the book there's a lengthy explanation on how to read the charts, but, to be honest, that's something I just don't want to know.

Here is a paragraph which simply defies understanding: "If you wish to arise at a certain hour, make with your right foot as many marks on the floor as the hour at which you wish to awake, then go to bed backwards." How does one "go to bed backwards?"

Maybe it means you're supposed to back into your bed. Or perhaps one "goes to bed backwards" by starting in one's pajamas and changing into street clothes and then getting into bed.

One page is devoted to giving us the group names for animals. For instance: "A colony of ants. A cast of hawks. A hide of grouse. A wisp of snipe." etc., etc. (say, how about "A belfry of bats?")

So much for the almanac. Thursday, class, we shall discuss the planet Mars and I'll show slides of my vacation.

Do you realize how many book publishers are going to be caught short by a sudden outbreak of peace?

One thing they HAVEN'T called Vietnam — the war to end wars.

Living downtown is fun; when the police sirens stop going past your house at night you wake up and say, "What was that?"

The way some people vote on Election Day, we'd be smarter to leave the bars open.

We hear Onassis' next yacht is going to be a converted aircraft carrier.

Say, did anyone think to send flowers to Lord Harlech?

You'll know Christmas is near when Sen. Ev Dirksen comes out with a new record album.

Allen - Goldsmith Report

Mines in Suez

WASHINGTON — A jarring surprise is in store for Russia if it attempts to reopen the blocked Suez Canal.

It is authoritatively reported the waterway has been heavily mined by Israel.

The mines are described by intelligence sources as an extremely sensitive and powerful plastic type that cannot be dislodged or removed by dredging. The mines are understood to have been planted by Israel frogmen the entire length of the canal.

It will be no surprise to Israel if the Soviet attempts to reopen the Suez.

As previously reported in this column, the Reds have been assembling a flotilla of giant dredges, cranes and other equipment at Port Said, at the Mediterranean entrance of the waterway. The purpose can only be to undertake to reopen the canal, which has been closed since Israel seized the eastern bank in its crushing defeat of Arabs in the six-day war in June 1967. The Suez is blocked by some 15 scuttled and other vessels, plus nearly 18 months of accumulating silt.

Military and intelligence authorities are convinced there is a direct connection between the Arabs' greatly intensified hostilities toward Israel and Russian power moves in the highly explosive Middle East.

Last Saturday's surprise massive artillery attack by Egypt is attributed directly to the Soviet.

It is definitely known that Russian artillery officers are now serving with Egyptian batteries. In addition, the Egyptians have been equipped with the latest type Soviet aiming and gun control devices — including radar and computers. These instruments are operated by Russian technicians and experts.

An estimated 600 field pieces were employed in the Egyptians' surprise artillery attack. They delivered a wide variety of highly sophisticated types of fire — airbursts, time-on-target, rolling barrages, zone fire and area saturation.

The unprovoked artillery attack, the most intense and accurate ever unleashed by the Egyptians, caught Israeli troops by surprise. As it was Saturday afternoon (their Sabbath), they were relaxing and off-guard. A number of soccer games were in progress in the open with scores of troops witnessing them.

The sudden Russian-directed firing caught them unawares, and that's when the Israeli casualties were incurred.

Israel has repeatedly declared its intention to forcibly resist any attempt to reopen the canal without a negotiated agreement with Egypt.

It has served notice it will destroy any Soviet or other craft that seeks to enter the Suez. The extensive Israeli mining of the waterway is one of the measures taken to enforce this firm determination.

The Pennsylvania Story

All-out for Nixon

By MASON DENISON

HARRISBURG — With the presidential campaign of 1968 now locked in the record books — at least insofar as the campaign itself is concerned — a few interesting and perhaps significant sidelights are worth noting.

For example, there is the case of Pennsylvania's "second" or junior United States Senator, Virginia-born Hugh Scott who wasn't even running for office this year (his term doesn't expire until 1970) but you might think so on the basis of his activity during the past campaign!

This "activity record" of the 60-year-old Philadelphia barrister in behalf of the Nixon presidential spurt is intriguing from several standpoints, but perhaps most significantly from that of having been the standard-bearer and exhorter-par-excellence in behalf of Nixon's stoutest pre-nominating convention opponent, New York State Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

There were those who assumed after the Rockefeller fade-out that pipe-puffing Hugh Scott would merely amble along the sidelines of the Nixon entourage, providing lip service here and there, and in general simply not bothering too much with the Nixon effort — for after all, he was not the candidate Scott had backed initially.

That isn't quite the way the former member of the U.S. House of Representatives and onetime national chairman of the Republican Party works. He's good for a scrap over either a candidate or a principle he believes in but once the powder horns have been tabbed, it's pick up the cudgel for the winner (if it's an intra-party scuffle as in the case of the Rockefeller-Nixon scramble).

This is precisely what happened in the Nixon case.

This column was curious, from a scheduling standpoint, as to just what the "junior senator from Pennsylvania" had done — specifically —

The blunt warning and military preparations set the stage for a possible head-on confrontation between the Israel and super-power Russia and the Arabs.

Military sources consider it virtually certain that a Soviet attempt to forcibly reopen the Suez would be the signal for another coordinated attack on Israel by the Arabs.

This would mean a new outbreak of large-scale war in the Middle East and the almost inevitable involvement of the U.S. and other Western powers.

Russia now has more than 40 warships in the Mediterranean. Among them is the Soviet's first and sole aircraft carrier — for helicopters and reconnaissance planes. Also assault vessels with an estimated two battalions of elite marines.

It is believed by intelligence that these troops will be deployed on the west bank of the Suez in the event an attempt is made to reopen it.

Still stalling

There has been no progress in Israel's year-long efforts to purchase 50 Phantom supersonic fighter-bombers.

On Oct. 9, after much bipartisan prodding by political leaders, and Congress' overwhelming approval of a provision in the foreign aid authorization bill urging such a sale, President Johnson announced negotiations would be initiated.

Finally, after more than three weeks, Ambassador Rabin was called to the State Department for a talk on the matter.

He was informed the meeting would be the first of a "series." When the next is to take place is unknown. In effect, the Israeli diplomat, his country's Chief of Staff during the June 1967 war, was told, "Don't call us, we'll call you."

It is understood that when Foreign Minister Abba Eban conferred with Secretary Dean Rusk several weeks ago, the latter stated "other factors" were involved in the "negotiations" on the sale of the Phantoms. There had been no hint of anything like that in the president's widely fanfared Oct. 9 announcement.

But reportedly Rusk implied the Johnson Administration is seeking commitments from Israel before approving the sale of the Phantom on the following "factors":

The nuclear nonproliferation treaty, which Israel has delayed signing.

Concessions to the Arab countries to conform with the United Nations peace formula.

Avoiding any action that might lead to a U.S. confrontation with Russia in the explosive Middle East.

These reputed secret demands may explain the administration's curious maneuver in holding "negotiations" on the sale of the Phantom fighter-bombers.

along the Nixon campaign trail (again in view of his initial support of Rockefeller over Nixon. This is what we discovered:

From the time Congress adjourned on Oct. 14 until the election there was hardly a day he wasn't on the road campaigning in behalf of the Nixon-Agnew ticket. A look at this galloping record is interesting:

From Oct. 16 through Oct. 22 the Philadelphia virtually lived in the Pittsburgh area, campaigning in the city itself more than a half-dozen times, with spurts during the week-long stand into nearby areas such as Johnstown, Altoona, Carnegie, McKeesport, Oakmont, Waynesburg and Washington (Pa.). He also scurried down to Washington (D.C.).

The following week, the last week before the election, his campaign base was the City of Brotherly Love, with forays to Reading and Pittsburgh the first part of the week, then winding up in Pennsylvania and New Jersey with the Republican "Truth Squad".

It was in New Jersey while heading up a four-man GOP "Truth Squad" that the unflappable Hugh Scott and his crew unexpectedly crossed warpaths with Democratic presidential hopeful Hubert Humphrey in a hotel, whereupon there was a cordial "Dr. Livingstone I presume?" greeting proffered Humphrey by a grinning Hugh Scott (although in opposition politically, the two have always had a cordial personal relationship).

What about the other "prime mover" from Pennsylvania in behalf of the Rockefeller candidacy — namely, Gov. Raymond Shafer? He too has been on the Nixon campaign trail, actually more so than Scott, all of which was detailed earlier by this column.

The point is, these two key Pennsylvania Republicans may have labored diligently in the Rockefeller vineyard initially, but it can hardly be said they didn't go grape guns in behalf of Richard Mithous Nixon in the showdown!

Lester Coleman, M.D.

Doctor, I'd like to know —

When is it necessary to do a spinal tap?

A description of a spinal tap must sound much more painful than it actually is. Almost always it is done after the skin has been desensitized with some form of local anesthetic. Only then is a very fine needle inserted in the lower back between the bony vertebrae of the spinal column. After the spinal tap is done there is little or no discomfort in most people. Occasionally there is a slight headache which lasts a short time and can be controlled with medication.

The purpose of a spinal tap is to withdraw some of the fluid that surrounds the spinal cord and the brain. This fluid circulates in a protective way and when it is removed it is studied under the microscope for special cells, and for its chemical substances. The fluid can be cultured for bacteria and the ideal antibiotic chosen.

The pressure of the fluid within the spinal canal is carefully measured, since a marked increase of pressure has important meaning in the diagnosis of spinal cord and brain disorders. When the spinal fluid is withdrawn special dyes are sometimes instilled in order to clearly outline all areas for the X-ray studies that then are taken to reveal tumors or other existing conditions.

Ann Landers

Work away loneliness

Dear Ann Landers: The Indians used to put out their old and ill and leave them to die. Elephants, when they sense the end is near instinctively go to their own burial grounds. Where do old and tired wives go?

My ex-husband was a very sick operator. I was no match for him. I did not contest his divorce which was followed hastily by a marriage to a 20-year-old girl. (He was 51. His new wife is pregnant now. He has lost 20 pounds, dyed his hair and drives a convertible.

After giving that man 30 years of my life and raising four sons, I must work to support myself. Two of our sons are married and the other two are in the service. I have wonderful friends but still there are many places an unescorted woman cannot go. Loneliness is a horrible thing. I feel that nobody needs me and I have nothing to live for. That's why I am asking, where do tired, old, used wives go?

—HEARTSICK

Dear Heartsick: I wish you'd have written before your husband obtained the divorce. If you had, he'd still be waiting for it and you wouldn't be working to support yourself.

Now, I can only suggest that you keep yourself busy and in touch with the world. Get into work that will give you a sense of service as well as a living. Hospitals, homes for the aged and other organizations that help people are looking for paid personnel. No one stands so tall as when he stoops to give someone less fortunate a lift. You need to be needed again. Get going.

Dear Ann Landers: My brother and his family live about 100 miles from here. Every three or four months they drop in unexpectedly for the weekend. We never get a phone call or a postcard saying they are coming — just a knock at the door and they bother. "Surprise!"

My sister-in-law relaxes while I run after her three children (as well as our own two). The rest of the time I am marketing, cooking, cleaning and changing beds.

Once I asked them nicely if they would please give us a little notice so we could plan. They got mad and accused me of being inhospitable. My sister-in-law snapped, "We aren't company. We are family. I'd feel terrible if you went out of your way to do anything extra for us."

This has been going on for 10 years. We have never received an invitation to their home. They say when they move into a bigger place they'll invite us. (Their house has four bedrooms, just like ours). How can I get a little consideration without making enemies of them?

—SITTING DUCK

Dear Duck: If you've been letting these people barge in on you unexpectedly three or four times a year for 10 years and they have never invited you to their home even once, you must enjoy being sneaked.

I've said it before and I'll say it again. No one can impose on or take advantage of another person unless that person permits it. And you, my dear, have permitted it for 10 years.

Beauty pageant date nears

SWIFTWATER — The Miss Hemisphere Pageant is holding the Miss North America Pageant at Mount Airy Lodge, Swiftwater, Nov. 22 and 23.

Contestants from the ages of 17 to 27 will be arriving from all areas of the United States and Canada. Competition will consist of swimsuit, evening gown, and state costume and the judging will be based on their charm, poise and personality, and beauty.

Gov. Raymond P. Shafer proclaimed the week of November 18-24 as "Miss Hemisphere Week" in the state of Pennsylvania.

James M. Brennan, owner of the Brennan's Beauty Salon in Stroudsburg is the official hairstylist of the Miss North America Beauty Pageant. Brennan is a well-known local hair stylist and he will assist our national beauties to keep up to their rigid schedules during pageant festivities.

A 1968 automobile will be awarded to Miss North America 1968 with scholarships to various schools, prizes and awards. Finalists will be awarded U. S. Savings Bonds, prizes and awards.

Friday evening, Nov. 22, the Miss Congeniality and the best costume awards will be presented. Saturday evening, Nov. 23, finalist judging will be completed and the new queen will be crowned by Lynda Hydock, Miss North America 1968 of Ohio.

Accepted as participating resorts are Mount Airy Lodge as official headquarters; Holiday Inn, East Stroudsburg; Crescent Lodge, Paradise Valley; High Point Inn, Mt. Pocono; and the Summit Motel, Tannersville.

The pageant will be judged by national dignitaries, newspaper, and television personalities. Stars of stage and screen will highlight the show and pageant events.

After winning the national crown, the new queen will begin her tour of the United States and other nations to promote peace and brotherhood among all the nations of the world through beauty.

Erma Bombeck

Revival of patriotism

I have heard and seen the American flag being displayed and cheered three times in two weeks. If this keeps up the country could go crazy with patriotism.

The first time I saw it was in New York. Against the advice of my Eastern friends I bought tickets to the Broadway musical, "George M!" (Cohan) starring Joel Grey. The show opened mildly enough, then a few subversives in the audience began tapping their feet and humming, "I'm a Yankee Doodle Dandy."

"I hope there isn't going to be trouble," remarked my companion.

"No," I said. "They're probably just a few of the people from the Midwest who are behind the times and don't know patriotism is out." But by the time the finale rolled around and Joel was swaggering around the stage to the tune of "You're A Grand Old Flag" there wasn't a throat in the hall without a lump in it.

"Do you suppose this is the beginning of a trend?" asked my friend.

"Ridiculous," I answered. "People in a crowd get emotional and out of hand. We'll be critical and anti again. You'll see."

Then on Sunday, two things happened. I picked up the newspaper and read that the National Federation of Grandmothers meeting in Minneapolis passed a resolution that schools should place greater emphasis on the nobler aspects of U. S. history and teach a deeper respect for the flag.

"What is the world coming to," I asked my husband. "The next thing you know flags will crop up in parades, movie houses, churches, schools, homes and billboards. People will begin to respect it, and feel pride. Demonstrators will stop burning it and adults will start saluting it. Youngsters will stand up straight and feel something they are unable to explain."

"Don't worry," he said. "Outside of immigrants, there aren't half a dozen people who still remember the Pledge of Allegiance in the tag."

That afternoon I attended a Girl Scout capping ceremony. There I saw it again. The American flag was carried proudly into the room and set in a prominent place. The girls stood at attention and the adults pulled themselves up hesitantly. "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America (good grief, how long had it been?) and to the Republic for which it stands (of course) one nation... under God, indivisible (it was coming back) with liberty and justice for all."

What is this country coming to?

State signs to advise of road plans

HARRISBURG — Motorists traveling along Pennsylvania's 43,646 miles of state-maintained highways are being informed of planned highway improvements up to a year in advance of construction.

New State Highway Department signs: "Pennsylvania Department of Highways will improve this road 1968-69," with the signature of Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, are going up in many areas of the Commonwealth.

With the Highway Commission scheduling a continuing six-year improvement program, the Highway Department schedules and maintains a continuous program unhindered in contrast to pre-highway Commission days when programs were revised with each change in government administrations.

Shun night club alone

BOUNCY CLUB: (Q.) A teen night club in our town has dances every weekend. The club has plenty of bouncers, and several policemen are always around.

(A.) It's just like going to a dance at school, only my mother won't let me. She says it looks like I'm going there to pick up boys. She lets me go to dances at school alone.

I must admit that some of the boys who go to this club look pretty weird, but clean-cut guys go, too. All my friends go. Why can't I?

Untrusting in Houston, Texas

(A.) Your mother is correct in her opinion that going to the night club alone is different from going to school dances alone. Your school dances aren't loaded down with bouncers and policemen, are they?

If all your friends go and this is the "in" place, go there with one of your clean-cut boy friends — not ALONE.

LOOSE LINER: (Q.) I really INVESTED in a bottle of liquid eyeliner. I'm very disappointed. It starts flaking off after I've had it on only two hours. I can't afford to keep buying eyeliner just to find out what brand will stay on all day!

A Kansas Reader

(A.) There are many "good" liquid eyeliners. You just got hold of a bad one. I'm sending you the name of one that will stay on if you apply it properly: Cleanse your lids, put on foundation, powder or shadow, then eyeliner. When it's dry, lightly powder again.

South African whisky moving

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The whisky makers of Scotland probably have nothing to worry about, but South African whisky, a blend of malt whisky and cane and wine spirits, costs much less than Scotch.

This thrifty note was struck by the distiller who said South African whisky introduced about two years ago is selling so well that a new plant is planned for Rhodesia.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

Early in my career, I used to have nightmares about a page which I was supposed to fill with news turning up with white spaces where news was supposed to be. Of course it never does because make-up men find something to fill in with.

The little spaces get filled with those fascinating bits of information like the mating habits of rosy hued spoonbills or the number of yaks in Tibet. A more drastic miscalculation on the amount of copy on hand has to be filled with a story which overflowed from another page.

But, sometimes even that isn't enough. While it's usually a feast on Family Fare, there are occasional times of famine. Usually after a fifth week in the month has drained the backlog of stories and the lack of meetings dries up the current supply.

But like manna in the wilderness or the cavalry arriving just as the ammunition gives out at the fort, there came that "Remember when..." letter which not only fills such a sizable hole, but does it with grace and a wealth of material.

And I haven't a clue as to who wrote it. There was no name, no address and no distinguishing marks about the paper and I didn't recognize the handwriting. It was obviously a native or someone who has lived here more than 50 years.

It could be either a man or a woman, but obviously one who has a capacity for enjoying the pleasures of life, large and small; and a treasurehouse of memory which must brighten many a dull day. Someone with a gift for expression and a happy faculty of sharing. And who still rights a most legible hand. Who could ask for anything more?

Except to know who it is. Will anybody who was on that sleighride to Bartonsville when somebody who lives a block from the American House froze his ears do some detecting for us all?

Remember the old Salt River parades? More memories rescued from oblivion

STROUDSBURG — "Remember the Salt River parades?" was one of the nostalgic questions in a letter from a reader, prompted by a Family Fare reference to the old mill race in Stroudsburg.

The Salt River parades were held following national elections when the incumbent party was replaced by the president of the opposing party.

The local leaders of the victorious party prepared the parade, in which the defeated leaders were paraded through town in a symbolical trip "up Salt River" to what was supposed to be oblivion. Many a campaign wound was healed in the hilarity of the parades and its conviviality.

"Remember the Salt River parades with Jerome Rinehart, Beany Dreher and Billy Burnett as the highlights? Such fun!" continued the letter which is full of other nostalgic references to places and people long gone.

Avenue of tall trees
"Remember when our Main Street was an avenue of tall stately trees? Giant trees. What a picture they made. They had to come down; they impeded the progress, the merchants said. Although in what way wasn't clear to many of us."

"How Dr. Mary Erdman fought against the slaughter. She cried when they began cutting them down."

"Mayor Small, bless him, has tried to rectify this blight. His trees are doing beautifully. However, it will be his great-grandchildren's generation who may live to see the old trees' growth in the new."

Not all past was remembered as so idyllic however.

Who remembers The Sprinkler?", the letter asks.

The unpaved Main Street was rutted deep with cart tracks in the Spring, and dried to dust during the Summer.

The Sprinkler, the writer recalls, was run by Henry LaBar. Cora LaBar came to collect from the merchants and residents on Main Street each week until the paving put a stop to the business."

Another town institution was "The Dummy." For a nickel residents could ride from the West Main Street bridge to Millford Crossing. In Summer the closed Dummy was replaced by an open air trolley-type car which covered the same route.

A treat on Saturday evening was this ride on the Dummy. Charley Meixell, the conductor, would take a whole group over and back. What a thrill for five cents."

High life for a nickel

Since five cents was usually all the young people had to spend, there was many an argument about how it should best be invested, because they had several choices.

"If we decided to spend it on ice cream we would go to Dimmick Edinger's where there were eight or more summer houses, each seating four or more. The summer houses had been built by the former owner, Addie Melick. Ice cream was five cents a plate, and the servings were twice as large as the 25-cent dish today. How the gang lingered there."

"Another choice was the Nicket. Remember that? This was introduced by Otmar and Lizzie Koch, parents of Victor Koch. Remember Helen Kulp at the piano? Later the Kochs opened the Bijou between Sixth and Fifth Street block on Main."

Also recalled with affection was the Monroe County Fair held for a week each Fall. Schools which had already opened suspended classes for Fair week which was held in the Fairgrounds on which Stroudsburg High School and the playgrounds now stand.

"There was horse racing seen from the large grandstand," the letter recalls. "What a week. Prizes for the best in livestock. Canned fruit, vegetables, fancy work and quilts in the Fair House. Side shows and rides were outside including the merry-go-round on which not only children but teen-agers went round and round. Imagine teen-agers doing that today."

Band and block dances

Other amusements centered around the Band Stand in Court House Square, or the block dances held on Main Street which was blocked off between Seventh and Eighth Streets. Music was supplied by the Stroudsburg Band.

In Winter there was sledding on Fifth Street, which was also blocked off, so that there was sledding from above Thomas to Main, with many a spill from the sleds that travelled the route.

The GAR Hall which stood at the corner of Eighth and Monroe Streets, now converted to the Christian Science Church, was the setting for vaudeville acts with seats from 10 to 25 cents.

Group transportation
Lack of private transportation often made getting there half the fun, the letter recalls.

"Remember the stages that came to town from the outlying villages? They were run by Frank Felker and Adam Buck. The first stop was the American House at Eighth and Main where the drivers had dinner and the passengers made the round of the stores to purchase articles for the folks at home."

"One year the stages ran on sledges for more than six months. That year the snow was so deep on Main Street where the merchants had shoveled it from the sidewalks that it was impossible to see across the street."

"Remember the sleigh riding parties which were so popular in those days. A favorite ride was to Bartonsville to Jerd Hartman's where the party had a square dance and refreshments."

"In this cold year, one member of the party froze his ears going home one block. He had borrowed ear muffs for the ride and returned them when the ride ended and froze his ears on the short block to home."

"Sleigh rides took the place of sleigh rides in the summer."

"Remember the trolley to Delaware Water Gap? It was a lovely ride and also served the folks at the Gap for shopping or visiting in town. The park halfway over Foxtown Hill was used for picnics in the summer."

"Remember the first trip of the Phoebe Snow all dressed in white riding the round of anthracite? The station and platform in East Stroudsburg was so crowded for her first arrival that you could scarcely push through to see the train."

The mountain to Mohamet
If travel was more limited in those days, there were plenty of things close at hand, and many of the things for which people have to shop were brought right to the door, the letter recalls.

"Remember when the butchers came to the customers' homes each day with their wagonloads of different meats for the customers to choose from? Earl Dennis' father was one of those who came to town with his meat."

"Then who remembers the Jersey farmer with a wagonload of cantaloupes each year, or peach basket of Jenny Lynns for 50 cents?"

"Remember when we were visited each year by the scissors grinder and the umbrella man and, best of all for the children, by the organ grinder with his monkey?"

"Remember the Christmas candy toys made by John Elliot in his show on lower Main Street? Some of them were used as Christmas trimmings with his candy canes as treats for the children."

"Remember the market on South Seventh Street run by Mary and John White? Mary was the daughter of John Weidner who had a fish market on lower Main. No one knew vegetables, fruit or fish like Mary."

Once five hotels

Also among the old time memories are places which still exist but which have been converted to other uses. The announcement of the impending closing of the Penn-Stroud Hotel recalls when there were five active hotels in Stroudsburg. In addition to the Indian Queen, now the site of the Monroe County Security Trust Co.; the American House, now housing stores and students from East Stroudsburg State College; and the Penn-Stroud Hotel, known as the Burnett House; the letter recalls two others.

"Remember the Central House run by Jerry Stoffel? Torn down when Wyckoff's New York Store was enlarged. Remember the Washington House when Ed Shafer ran it? Torn down for the filling station at Fifth and Main."

"Remember the dining room of Swiftly Heller's saloon where his wife served? Oh, for one of her deviled crabs, the like of which can't be found anywhere."

"Remember Truslow's Duck Farm where the Edward Treibels now live in South Stroudsburg, now a residential area, where the first golf course once was?"

"Remember when the Quaker Meeting House where the Stroudsburg Municipal Building now stands? In 1892, the first grade of the public school met in the old meeting house."

"Remember when the Stroudsburg Post Office was on the first floor of the Malta Temple and the names of the postmasters who served? Among them were John Decker, Dimmick Edinger and Will Heilig. When the post office was moved to South Sixth St. before moving to its present location, Harry Oldorf served as postmaster."

"Remember when the Kitson Woolen Mill made history? The wool was sheared, carded and woven into cloth; the cloth was cut and tailored to a man's suit, and the suit was worn by Tom Kitson, father of Attorney James Kitson, on the evening of the same day."

Advice to a drop out
There were also the generations version of the lumpy in the story of Mose Miller. Mose's father owned the hardware store where Bixler's Hardware is now located and expected young Mose to help in the store. One day Mose left town and was gone for several weeks. When he wrote to his father for money to get home, his father's answer was terse and to the point. "The walking is good."

Mose Miller returned, and the town must have looked good to him because he went back to the store and ran it for many years.

It was in that store that Reeves Bush had a section in the middle with a work bench to fill orders for leather goods. That work bench is reported to be still in the possession of his grandson, Dr. Frederick Jones.

Finally, the letter contains a reference to the old mill race which inspired it in the first place.

"The race ran from above Ninth and Scott to Main. It ran between Art DeYoung's grocery, now an oil company parking place, and Judge Dreher's home, now St. Luke's. It fed Ackerman's Mill located where Lawson's Garage is now. The race was a skating place in the Winter and a picture in the Spring when the trees along its banks were budding."

Local chapter marks month for citing mental retardation

STROUDSBURG — Mental Retardation has become one of the most serious conditions in the United States. While science has made great strides in conquering diseases such as measles, scarlet fever, diphtheria and whooping cough, mental retardation remains a perplexity.

The Monroe County Chapter for retarded children is among the 1,000 member units of the National Association sharing the responsibilities for improving the general welfare of all retarded children and adults, regardless of their handicap, at home or in an institution, through cooperative programs with other voluntary and governmental services.

Since this is National Mental Retardation Month, the local unit joins the national effort for "public awareness" which has a continuing goal of replacing dehumanization for the retarded with dignity; training the trainable; educating unaware parents; and looking at mental retardation "square in the face."

The national effort did not get organized until 1952, incorporating local units such as Monroe County which had prior to that been supported by a group of concerned parents who hired teachers and set up a part-time special education school which today continues as the Day Care Center at Reeder's Elementary School.

Throughout the year, the local association, with professional staff members, volunteers and sponsoring organizations continues its efforts to prove that the retarded can be a benefit to our community, to end a needless waste of human potential and to give these boys and girls the right to grow up into useful men and women.

There is the Special Youth Recreation Program, held weekly, every Monday afternoon at the Stroudsburg Young Men's Christian Assn. for young people 14 years and up. Swimming sessions and other activities are provided from October through May.

Two named to staff at ESSC

EAST STROUDSBURG — The president of East Stroudsburg State College, Dr. Frank D. Sills, recently announced the appointment of Dr. Philip H. Pfaltz and Miss Jo Anna Wentling to the professional staff of the college.

Prior to joining the staff of ESSC, Dr. Pfaltz was a member of the faculty at Luther College in Teaneck, N. J.

Receiving his B. A. degree from Amherst College, Dr. Pfaltz earned the Masters and Ph.D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania. He then pursued theological studies at the Lutheran Theological College in Philadelphia where he earned the B.D. The S.T.M. was awarded by the Union Theological School in New York City.

Miss Wentling will be a part-time instructor of philosophy at the ESSC Allentown center. A graduate of Millersville State College, Miss Wentling is presently taking graduate work at Lehigh University.

Monroe Co. bond sales show gains

STROUDSBURG — Chairman of U. S. Savings Bond and Freedom Shares sales in Monroe, Northampton, Pike and Wayne counties recently released sales in their counties.

Robert F. Davenport, Monroe County, said that during September $139,810 was collected in sales and that this brings the total sales to date for $1,444,164 and brings the county to 71.1 per cent of the $2,032,000 quota for 1968.

James A. Hemstreet, Northampton County, released the following figures: September sales of $600,959, sales to date, $9,342,596, which is 60.5 per cent of the $15,416,000 1968 quota.

Donald Z. Wade, Pike County, said that September sales totaled $13,575 which makes sales to date $118,155, and this represents 53.2 per cent of the $223,000 quota.

In Wayne County, sales to date are $434,464 and September sales were $34,138. These figures represent 65.7 per cent of the 1968 quota of $661,000.

MORA makes holiday plans

STROUDSBURG — Men of Retirement Age Club at its recent meeting took action on a suggested feature for a holiday event introduced by Al Sommer with musical and other areas to be expanded for the Christmas party program.

Plans are also being shaped by the Leisure Hours Club for the traditional joint yule party.

November 13 is the tentative date for the visit to Martin Guitar Manufacturing plant in Nazareth.

Club greetings went to returnees, Robert McNair back from Hawaii, and president Bernard Yardley, back from Pittsburgh.

A joint luncheon was held and presentation made by James Shaffer of one of his own floral paintings to Charles Ketter, publicity director for MORA News the past decade.

Cycle laws are enforced

STROUDSBURG — State Police in Monroe County are enforcing all provisions of the recently enacted laws relating to motorcycle operation and use of protective equipment.

The provisions became effective Sept. 13, 1968.

The Bureau of Traffic Safety, Department of Revenue, is constantly adding approved types of protective equipment, such as protective headgear, eyeglasses, or eye shields.

Police noted that no arrests will be made providing the operator and riders wear protective headguard and glasses or shields even though the equipment may not have been approved or does not appear on the approved list.

Firemen hold block drive for building

STROUDSBURG — Stroud Township firemen are conducting a block campaign to help finance construction of the fire department's $39,000 fire house in Anasomink.

The block campaign specifically involves the purchase of a three dollar cinder block by residents. Firemen are attempting to sell a total 5,000 cinder blocks. This would net $15,000.

If persons wish to donate a cinder block, the blocks can be taken to the fire house at N. Fifth Street.

Persons who wish to purchase cinder blocks or make general donations can contact the following firemen: Marvin Walton, Fifth Street; Blaine Rice, Bridge St.; William Pfeiffer, Anasomink and Gary Reish, Cherry Valley.

Opening lead—ten of clubs.

This column often features the exploits of the famed Italian Blue Team, which has dominated world championship bridge for the past eleven years.

But what happens when the star-studded members of this team play against each other, as they occasionally do, in invitation events? Does the irresistible force succumb to the immovable object, or vice-versa?

Without attempting to identify which pair was the force and which the object, we cite this hand played in Deauville, France, in 1965, where D'Atello and Pabis-Ticci locked horns with their countrymen, Forquet and Garozzo.

Forquet hid one spade.

Somewhat rashly—considering the vulnerability—Pabis-Ticci overcalled with two diamonds, Garozzo's proper action at this point is not entirely clear, but he elected to double.

This proved to be a clever choice when Garozzo and Forquet found the double-dummy line of defense to put declarer down four—1,100 points!

West led the ten of clubs. East cashed the A-K and returned a club for West to ruff. Garozzo shifted to a low heart and declarer, placing Forquet with the king, went up with the ace to lead a low spade.

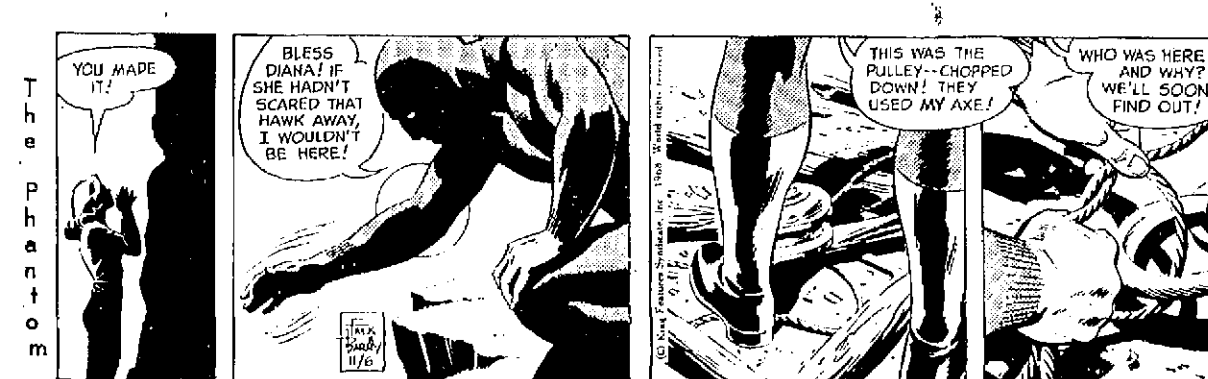

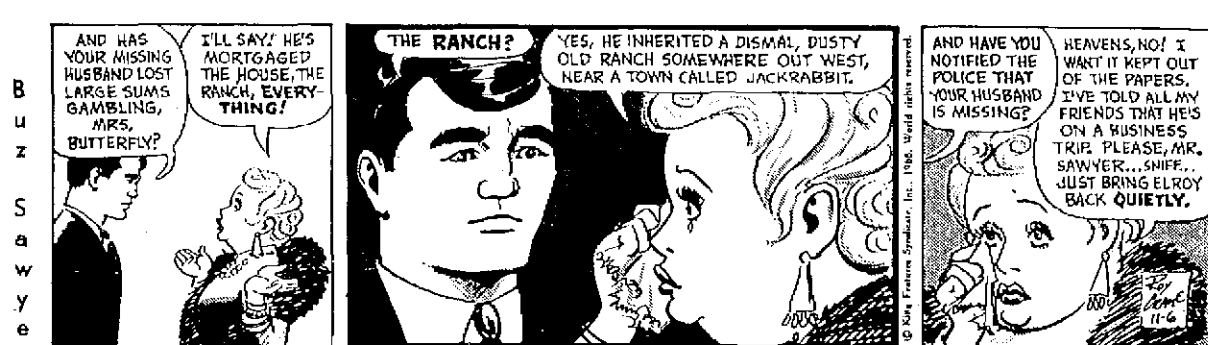

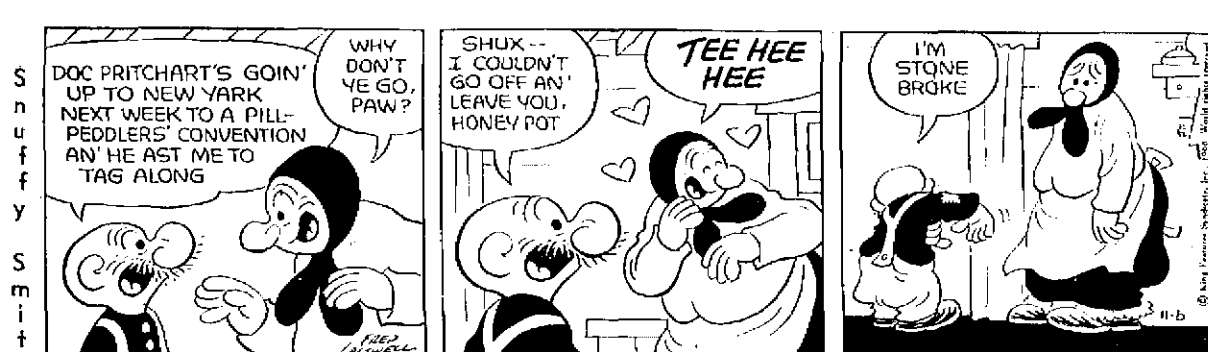

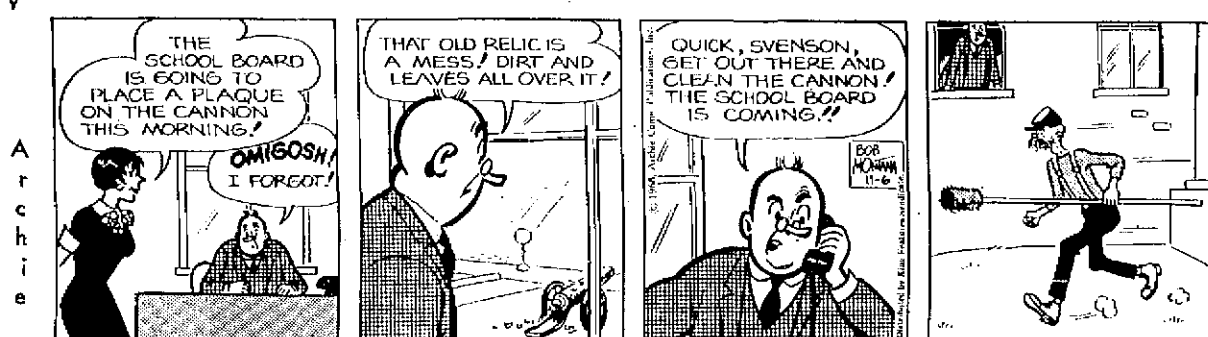

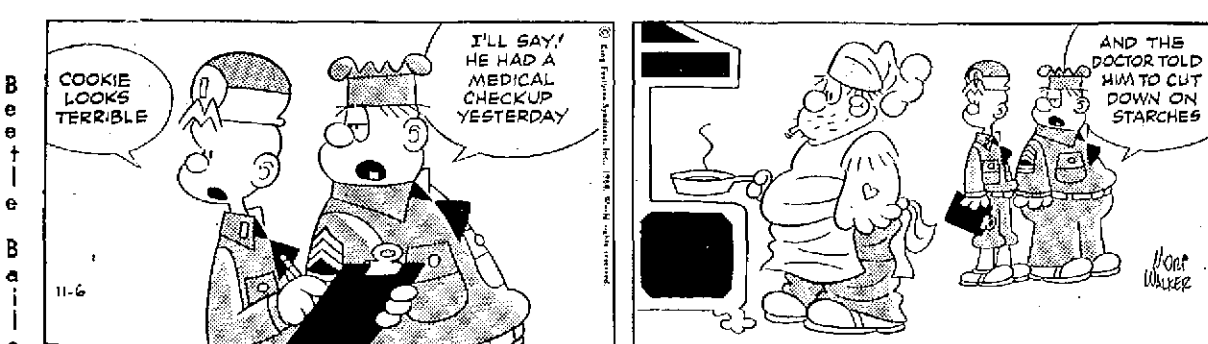

This was not an overwhelming success because Garozzo took declarer's king with the ace and returned the ten covered by the jack and queen. After cashing the king of hearts, Forquet led a club from this position:

Women recall paper ballots, fire, pay by numbers, poll resignations

By BOBBY WESTBROOK
Family Fare Editor

STROUDSBURG — In politics, men assume the offices and the women do the leg work which put them there.

Men make the speeches while women ring the doorbells, stuff the envelopes, pursue the unregistered.

The men are on the platform, their wives behind the scenes.

Monroe County is no exception. While women voters out number and outvote and outwork the men, the major political offices are held by men with few exceptions. (Offhand, all except two.)

However, there is one field in the elective machinery which the men are willing to share with the ladies. It is the lowest elective office, the last squares on the ballot: that of the election boards of the voting district.

Safeguard privacy
Yet, the election boards are what make the democratic process work. Its members are charged with the responsibility of keeping the election honest and orderly. They safeguard the privacy of the ballot and secure the voter against undue influence within the polling place. In Monroe County, a majority of election boards are women.

Every voter saw them Tuesday, perhaps without knowing who they were or what function they served. There was a judge of election who supervised the whole operation and assigned the duties to the inspectors of election. The two inspectors, checked the voting lists and determined the eligibility of each elector.

All of them had been in the polling place a half hour before the first voter was admitted. They had taken the oath of office, had seen that everything was in readiness, including the machines and the specimen ballots.

They stayed there all day, eating the lunches which they brought with them during a lull, until the last machine had been opened, the count verified and posted outside the polling place, and certified to the county board of election.

Despite the importance of their tasks, the post itself is the least sought-after, the most lightly regarded of all in the political field.

But are the women, relegated to these lowliest of posts, downhearted? Certainly not the three veteran judges of election interviewed on this election.

Mount Pocono
Dorothy B. Serfass has served almost 30 years on the election board in Mount Pocono. Her term of service pre-dates machine balloting by many years.

"Voting machines have certainly made a difference, in our job," she said, "We used to work until the wee hours."

The worst night she recalled was during a primary with lots of write-ins when the board worked all night with the last tally at 7 a.m. That was the night when the weary judge of the election and inspector took the returns to the courthouse only to discover that they'd left the ledger lying on the table, and had to return post haste.

"That night I guess we were the last district to report," she recalled.

With voting machines the election board is finished about an hour after the polls close. Mrs. Serfass, as so many other of the women members of the election boards, started her political career as a clerk of elections. Clerks are not elected but appointed by the inspectors of election.

Jackson Township
Miss Sallie Singer, judge of election in Jackson Township, also started as a clerk of election, dating back about 25 years. She took her place on the board when the polling place was moved from Appenzel to its present site in the Community House in Reeders. In protest, the whole election board whose homes were near Appenzel resigned.

Miss Singer, too, recalls the long nights of the paper ballots. The first election night she worked, the count wasn't completed until 2 a.m.

At that time the election board was paid by the number of votes in the district: five dollars for the first 100 votes and one dollar for every 100 after that.

"If we had 189 votes, we still only got five dollars," she remembered.

The main problem she finds today is the fact that so many voters wait until evening to vote. The voting used to be done earlier when farmers could choose a slack time of day. Now most of the men work in plants or factories and their wives wait until they come home from work to come with them.

"There's usually a long line before 8 p.m. when the polls close," she said.

Hamilton Township
Lydia Howerter, judge of election in Hamilton Township, has worked at the polls for about 20 years. Her service dates back to the time when the polling place used to be in Miles Harps store.

"I'll never forget the night when we were about ready to close and I smelled smoke. We searched until we found that it was the ballots which had been placed on an oil heater and were smoldering away."

Another night she won't forget in a hurry was the night they worked until 4 a.m. and then got home to discover she'd lost her house key.

The polling place has been changed to the former Snyder's school which she considers makes a very good place to vote. The voting machine has simplified the task of the judge of elections not only in shortening the time spent but also in the necessity for deciding when a ballot has to be disqualified because of an irregularity in voting.

"For years there was somebody in the district who marked the ballots each year with a check mark instead of the required 'X'. We didn't know who it was so there was no way of telling him that he was wasting his time since any irregularly marked ballot has to be thrown out."

There are a lot less wasted votes with machines, although the machines themselves cause a few problems, she finds. Mrs. Howerter demonstrated the use of the voting machines in Miles Harps' store when they were first adopted, and also showed voters how to use them when they were on display in the court house.

Some confusion
"People are all right when they vote the straight ticket, but some of them get confused when they're trying to split their ticket. They get to feeling that they are trapped in there and get panicked."

"But I won't let them out until they've voted for somebody," she laughed, admitting that some of them try to crawl out under the curtain.

It's a job she thoroughly enjoys. "You get to know the people in the township," she pointed out.

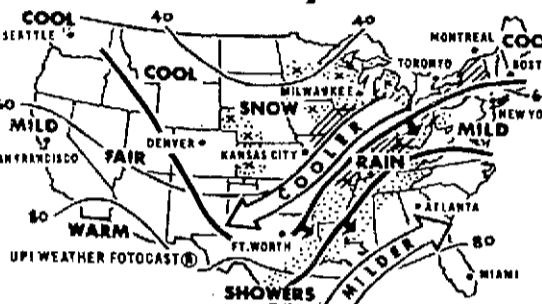

Of course, Mrs. Howerter had a head start on knowing the constituents: first as a teacher, then as a worker in all of the welfare drives in the county for many years, and as a census taker in the school census.

However, there are lots of newcomers in the township, and she's getting to know them too. In this office, nobody stands up and yells "Here comes da judge!" but the women who fill that position in the townships and wards of the county feel they have their rewards. The men, who reserve for themselves the more highly regarded and better paid posts on the tickets, are glad to share this one with the ladies, confident that they will fill the post with dignity, decorum and devotion to the duties it entails.

DOROTHY B. SERFASS—Mount Pocono

Obituaries

Elmer Gower dies at 66

EAST STROUDSBURG — Elmer J. Gower, 66, died Tuesday in his home at 65 Henry St., East Stroudsburg.

Born in West Pittston, he was a son of the late Lyman and Bessie Neidig Gower.

Mr. Gower owned and operated Gower's Auto Repair Garage in East Stroudsburg the past 23 years. He had also, earlier in life, been employed by Bethlehem Steel Co.

Magazine drive ends on Monday

EAST STROUDSBURG — The annual magazine drive at East Stroudsburg Area High School will continue until Monday.

The junior high students participate in this magazine drive, which is held in cooperation with the Curtis Publishing Co. of Philadelphia.

The profits, which are placed in the junior high activity fund, are used for the benefit of the students. In the past, this money has been used to purchase a movie projector, library books, classroom film-strip projectors and filmstrips, fencing for the tennis courts, mimeograph machines, and an offset machine.

Contributions have also been made to various clubs, and a debt in the Student Council Treasury was eliminated by money from this fund.

This year the students are contemplating the idea of purchasing a bulletin board to be placed in front of the high school. Besides these monetary rewards, students are able to win individual prizes based upon the number of magazines they sell.

During last year's drive, people bought over $5,000 worth of magazines.

He was a member of East Stroudsburg Methodist Church, the Senior Men's Sunday School Class of that church and a member of Barger Lodge 325 F&AM, Stroudsburg. He was also a veteran of World War I.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Pearl Fetherman Gower, at home; a daughter, Mrs. Irene Hoffert, Bethlehem; a son, Robert Gower, Vineland, N.J.; five grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Myrtle Spruitt, West Orange, N.J.

Services will be held Saturday at 3 p.m. in Lanterman Funeral Home with the Rev. Harold C. Eaton officiating.

Burial will be in Laurelwood Cemetery.

Friends and relatives may call at the funeral home Friday after 7 p.m. Barger Lodge will conduct Masonic services at 8 p.m.

J.R. Hatton service held

STROUDSBURG — A requiem Mass was celebrated Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. in St. Luke's Roman Catholic Church, Stroudsburg, for James R. Hatton, 66, of New York City.

Rev. Francis Barrett was celebrant. Burial was in Prospect Cemetery, East Stroudsburg.

Pallbearers were James Petersen, Raymond Fitzpatrick, John Wood, Richard Notz, Raymond Petersen, and Howard Smith Sr.

Lanterman Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements and the flag presentation was made by Sgt. John Pennell.

Meeting change

REEDERS — The Jackson Township supervisors will meet here at Jackson Twp. School at 7:30 p.m. Thursday and not today as originally scheduled.

Pattern for traffic proposed

STROUDSBURG — Downtown traffic congestion would be eased under proposals suggested by the Stroudsburg Planning Commission and the borough's businessmen's association.

The plans to eliminate the traffic problem were offered during a meeting of the planning commission and businessmen Monday night.

The major proposal is a study for an immediate program to improve the downtown traffic flow.

The other proposal is for an immediate program to improve directional signs designated to guide motorists to the downtown area without confusion.

The proposals, which must be approved by borough council, were presented to the two groups by Michael Cabot, the planning commission's consultant.

Cabot said the program could be financed with state assistance. The Dept. of Community Affairs would be asked to contribute half the funds.

While the cost of the program was not revealed, the necessary remaining funds would come from local sources.

Cabot pointed out that the remaining 50 per cent could be received under a federal Housing and Urban Development 701 grant, but that the necessary federal approvals would hold up progress for a year or more.

The plan would also establish cost estimates and would set in motion a plan of action to implement the plan.

Court grants petitions for voters

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County Judge Arlington W. Williams, presiding in the Court of Election, Tuesday granted three petitions for individuals to exercise their right to vote.

Chester R. Staples Jr., Stroud Twp., was discharged from military service on September 16 which was the deadline for registration in the state.

He could not physically be in Monroe County to register by the deadline. On Sept. 23, he attempted to register at the Courthouse, but the registrar was unable to accept his registration because of the deadline which was missed.

Because of the circumstances involved, Judge Williams granted his right to vote in the general election.

Glen and Vivian Kreckman, Cresco, were also granted the right to vote in Tuesday's election because of circumstances, which surrounded Kreckman's discharge from the service.

Mrs. Alma N. Eschenbach, 1004 Main St., Stroudsburg, also was allowed to vote Tuesday because of a ruling by Judge Williams.

Mrs. Eschenbach, 76, was a registered voter in Stroudsburg's Third Ward where she had lived for most of her life. During the summer of this year, she moved into Stroudsburg's Fourth Ward, not realizing that she had crossed the boundary line.

Mrs. Eschenbach did not know that she was in the Fourth Ward and therefore she did not know that she had to change her registration.

In her petition, she said that she would not be allowed to vote in any but the Third Ward and that since she was not a resident of the Third Ward, she could not vote there.

Judge Williams resolved her dilemma by ruling in her favor. He said that a lady who had been a good and honest citizen for 76 years must not be allowed to lose her right to vote in a general election.

Eagles to honor veteran members

STROUDSBURG — Stroudsburg Eagles 1196 will hold a testimonial dinner Sunday for Lester Voss, Howard Clugston, and Albert Clapper, who have a combined service of more than 100 years with the club.

Speakers will be Robert Davenport, toastmaster; Joseph P. Gibson, Scranton, past state president of the Eagles; The Rev. Robert Gibson, Stroudsburg, and The Rev. M.J.

Riu, Stroudsburg.

The Rev. Gibson is assistant pastor at St. Luke's Roman Catholic Church, and a son of Joseph Gibson, past president.

The Rev. Riu is pastor of Zion United Church of Christ, Stroudsburg.

The public is invited to attend the testimonial and may make reservations through Thursday by telephoning the Eagles at 421-9441.

Case settled out of court

STROUDSBURG — The trespass case of Mae E. Strunk, 1066 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, vs. Silvio and Amelia Falato, Emerson, N.J., and Beverly J. Rode, Stroudsburg T.D. 3, Tuesday was settled out of court.

The decision was made and the agreement reached between all involved parties before the case entered its second day in court.

Monday, a jury heard the testimony of Mrs. Strunk in regard to the automobile accident in which she was injured.

In other court action, Judge Fred W. Davis pronounced sentence on Earl F. Kresge, Scotrun, Catherine Hanna, Saylorburg, and William Edmond Drake, East Stroudsburg R.D. 3. All three individuals had been found guilty by jury trials which were held in October.

Kresge, charged with operating while intoxicated, was fined $400 plus cost of prosecution.

Hanna, charged with failure to stop at the scene of an accident, was fined $200 plus the cost of prosecution and was placed on probation for three months.

Drake, charged with driving while intoxicated, was fined $100 plus the cost of prosecution.

YMCA lists two events

POCONO MANOR — Swimming instruction for Mount Pocono YMCA junior and senior boys will begin today at 6 p.m. at Pocono Manor Inn.

Matthews also announced a "small bore shoot" for Friday at Tobyhanna Army Depot's indoor rifle range.

He requested senior boys who plan to make the trip to assemble with their 22 caliber rifles and ammunition in front of the "Y" building at 6:30 p.m.

Public to discuss planning director

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County Commissioners Tuesday announced a public meeting will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 12, at 7:30 p.m. concerning the hiring of a county planning director.

The meeting was called as a response to public pressure led by Mrs. Alma Nichols, East Stroudsburg R.D. 2, who requested that such a meeting be held.

Over 300 registered voters in the county signed some 14 petitions asking that the meeting be held with the condition that it would be open to the public and the press.

The meeting, to be held in Court Room number one of the Monroe County Courthouse will be moderated by Elmer Christine, county solicitor.

Commissioner Elwood Hintze said that the Planning Commission and the Commissioners felt that it was in the best interests of the county to hold a public meeting.

Pros and cons

He said that the purpose of the meeting would be to hear the pros and cons of the public concerning the planning director position and that it was not the purpose of the meeting to put the planning commission or the park commission on trial. In other commission business, James Johnson, Monroe County representative of the Soil Conservation Service, discussed the progress of the three dams on the upper Brodheads.

Johnson informed the commissioners that the dam on Levitt's Branch is presently being surveyed and he expects the survey to be completed by the first of 1969. The dam site is being surveyed for acquisition from the present landowners.

Primary use
Johnson said that the dam was originally planned with the idea of it being a multi-purpose dam. However, he said that it will now be used primarily for flood control purposes.

The site was moved between 100 and 200 feet downstream of the original location because the present site is located in flat topography. This, said Johnson, will enable it to be more easily constructed and it will prove more economical.

The commissioners also announced that they would be in attendance at the meeting of the township supervisors at 6:15 p.m. in the West End Fire Hall.

Planners release official statement on director

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Planning Commission late Tuesday afternoon released an official statement explaining its position on the appointment of a non-professional planner to head the planning commission.

"The members of the commission feel that they owe the general public a report on their activities during the past year which will outline our thinking and judgment which has been the basis for the decisions which have been made," the official statement so contained.

The Planning Commission have recommended hiring Douglas Williams director. The Commission envisions the post as containing primarily public relations duties.

Public meeting
Monroe County Commissioners will conduct a public meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Monroe County Courthouse to discuss appointment for the commission's chief executive.

Following is the official Planning Commission statement, in part:

"Starting almost two years ago, the members became increasingly concerned about the accomplishments of the commission. Therefore, early in 1968, the commission decided that it was time to stop and take stock of what had been accomplished, to analyze the direction in which we were heading and to determine future plans and policies and to take the necessary steps to implement the future program.

Past accomplishments
"In reviewing past accomplishments, it was agreed that in reality only three worthwhile programs have been completed. The first was the development of the sub-division regulations and their subsequent adoption by the County Commissioners. This very worthwhile project was accomplished solely by members of the Commission and the commission engineer without assistance from a Planner or Planning Consultant.

"The second was the mapping program, this was accomplished only because the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. was mapping the entire region and were willing to make the information available to us at a nominal cost.

"The third was the development of a comprehensive plan for the Tocks Island Planning District. This was done because the three townships that would bear the greatest brunt of the impact from Tocks Island were not moving by themselves, therefore, the County Planning Commission felt that we should assume responsibility for development of a plan. This has largely been accomplished, unfortunately, during the process the planner and consultant antagonized the Supervisors and Planning Officials in the three townships to the extent that by the end of the program all liaison between the Planning Commission office, the consultant and officials of the three townships had been lost.

"A number of other programs were initiated, most of them funded primarily with Federal funds. The members feel very doubtful that the results of these programs justify the amount of money and time spent on them. For example, the water and sewage study of the western portion of the county, which has been done under a FHIA grant in the amount of $28,000.

"On the basis of this study, the county or the individual municipalities could find themselves obligated to a program totaling over $11 million over the next 30 years, including trunk sewers, pumping stations, sewage plants, water facilities, operating costs and interest on bonded indebtedness, but not the lateral sewers in front of homes.

"These would be paid on a front foot assessment in addition to the above. The capital investment loan is estimated to be in excess of $66 million over the 30 years period.

"There is serious doubt in the minds of the commission as to whether this proposal is practical or could possibly be afforded by the municipalities involved. It is still under study.

listening to repetitious material, in discussing and participation in programs which were not really the function of the Planning Commission, and that we had gotten so far off the track that we were not devoting ourselves to the real problems facing Monroe County, nor had we given sufficient thought nor time to the development of worthwhile and realistic future goals. It seemed obvious that a major change of direction and procedure was indicated.

"We, therefore, met with the newly elected Board of Commissioners and thoroughly reviewed with them our thinking and the reasoning behind it and our proposed future course. They agreed unanimously to support the proposed changes.

Major decision
"One major decision concerned our participation in the Federal 701 Program. Much of the budget and planning of the Commission had been geared to participation in this program. However, we were only able to obtain approval for one year. The funds for this program were almost twelve months late.

"After this experience we then applied, almost 24 months ago, for the succeeding years program and to date this application has not been approved, nor is there any real indication that it ever will be approved.

"We, therefore, decided that our basic program should be funded by local funds. This does not mean a decision to completely divorce ourselves from federal programs.

in order to insure a well rounded comprehensive program beneficial to all of the citizens of Monroe County. That it was necessary to enjoy and expand good relations with the public, and to advance and support programs that are responsive to the desires and wishes of local officials.

"To accomplish much of this, it was necessary that first of all we put our financial house in order, and introduce sound financial and business administration of our affairs.

"To this end, the members of the Commission individually have searched diligently for a capable director. We have been assisted by the Economic Development Council of Northeastern Pennsylvania and by individuals in the Federal and State planning field. We feel that our choice is the best man available of these we have interviewed and those whose applications we have reviewed."

Hopes rise, fall, rise, fall again at rival headquarters

STROUDSBURG — "We won the battle but we might have lost the war," said Robert Clark, Monroe County Publicity chairman for the Nixon-Agnew Committee, at 10:45 p.m. Tuesday when the presidential race was tighter than a stale turkey drumstick.

Clark was referring to Republican strength in Monroe County but not necessarily across the nation.

As the first presidential returns seeped in from the south, Wallace boosters at Wallace Headquarters in East Stroudsburg enjoyed their short lived shining hour.

"We're pleased nationally," said Donald Hunsicker, chairman of the citizens for Wallace in Monroe County. "He'll take Florida. But I didn't expect Kentucky to go to Nixon."

Monroe County solicitor Elmer Christine adjusted his tie and wobbled his cigar back and forth as the television set in the Monroe County Courthouse predicted a close race in Ohio.

At about 8:15 p.m. in the Penn Stroud Hotel ballroom, the Republican faithful were beginning to file in with an easy relaxed confident air. Richard M. Nixon had a commanding lead over Hubert H. Humphrey. James Joseph, Republican state committeeman predicted a Nixon landslide. At 9:02 p.m. the Democratic Headquarters on Main St. was a less organized setup compared to the Republican headquarters, which was preparing for a sizable spread of food and drink. Democratic diehards not saying much but hoping for the best.

But, attorney Lester Brown has hope, he said: "The Brown can go into the early morning."

At 9:15 p.m. the CBS television network gives Michigan to Humphrey and the first real applause rises around the fold-back chairs and the cigar smoke.

Humphrey has a chance in New Jersey, said CBS at 9:40 p.m. The Democrats start to open up the beer. "I have a small visitation of a major celebration coming up," said Brown.

NBC says Schweiker has beaten Clark and a groan temporarily dampens the ardor in the presidential race. When at 10:10 p.m. CBS gives New York to Humphrey and said Illinois and Ohio are a toss-up, the Democrats burst forth with a sustained roar and begin gabbling like geese over what looks like a miracle for Humphrey.

Lou Sommer of East Stroudsburg burst in the Democratic Headquarters and said he has just come from the Republican Headquarters. "They've got a good spread, but a lot of heads are hanging," he said with an ear-to-ear grin.

Ruggiero wins second term

BANGOR — Philip S. Ruggiero, incumbent Democrat in the 137th Representative District of Northampton County defeated his Republican opponent R. Kline Ashton 7,827 to 5,675.

Ruggiero carried Bangor's four wards 1,448 compared to Ashton's 785.

In national results throughout Northampton County, Humphrey received 21,379 votes to Nixon's 14,512 with 80 out of the 131 districts reporting. Wallace received 1,611.

Incumbent Congressman Fred B. Rooney received 24,915 and Paul Henderson 11,338. Democrats swept all other offices.

It was all business at Monroe County Republican Headquarters Tuesday night as local officials counted returns. Robert Clark is shown taking down figures, while Chester Miller receives reports by way of the walkie-talkie.

Bombing threat hits 4th school

STROUDSBURG — Students of Stroudsburg Area High School were the third victimized school group in the area within the last month to be harassed by a "bomb scare" on Tuesday.

James W. Hantjes, principal, said a "bomb scare" was called in by telephone sometime after noon Tuesday. Students were immediately evacuated.

Four Stroudsburg police officers and three members of Stroudsburg State Police under Chief John B. Trethaway made the search, finding no evidence of any bomb.

East Stroudsburg Area High School reacted to a bomb scare call on Oct. 17; Delaware Valley School on Oct. 4, and East Stroudsburg State College on Oct. 30.

Lehman approves local proposition

BUSHKILL — Lehman Township voters approved a local proposition to use voting machines in the future with 137 yes votes and 94 no.

In the national race, Nixon received 166 and Humphrey 149. There were 103 split tickets. All other offices were won by Republicans, except the office of State Treasurer where Democrat Grace Sloan defeated Frank Pasquerilla 160 to 152.

The Pocono Record

The Stroudsburgs, Pa. — Wed., Nov. 6, 1968 Dial 421-3000

Number of voters near mark

STROUDSBURG — Despite Tuesday's dreary skies and foggy conditions throughout the evening, a near record number of 17,403 Monroe County voters turned out for the general election.

Tuesday's total fell just short of the record number of voters, 17,930, who turned out to vote in the 1960 general election in which Richard M. Nixon opposed John F. Kennedy.

A spot check of key election districts showed between 35 and 40 per cent of the county's 21,163 registered voters had cast ballots before 3 p.m. For the most part this figure was ahead of the 35 per cent that voted before 3 p.m. during the record turnout for the 1964 presidential race between Lyndon B. Johnson and Barry Goldwater.

Election workers at the polls predicted that the turnout would exceed the 17,019 votes cast in the 1964 presidential election in which 10,662 or 51.7 per cent voted Democratic and 6,281 or 48.3 per cent voted Republican.

Out of 20,258 registered voters in the 1964 presidential race, 17,019 or 84 per cent cast their ballots.

A total of 720 absentee ballots have been sent to qualified civilians and military personnel.

Mrs. Lovell Banks, registration clerk in the county commissioner's office, said 429 civilian and 291 military absentee ballots have been issued.

At 2 p.m. Election Day the vote count in some of the county's 36 election districts showed the following tallies:

— In Barrett Township 646 voters out of 1,584 voters or 40.7 per cent had cast ballots. 373 were registered Republicans and 273 Democrats.

— Out of 163 registered voters in Price Township, 40 had cast their ballots by 2 p.m. of which 26 were registered Democrats and 14 registered Republicans.

— 185 voters out of Northern Stroud Township's 585 voters had cast their votes by 2 p.m.

E.S. changes consulting engineers

EAST STROUDSBURG — The engineering firm of Buck, Seifert and Jost, Englewood Cliffs, N. J., consulting engineers for the borough for the past 30 years, were fired by the East Stroudsburg Borough Council during a brief regular monthly meeting Tuesday night.

Council then hired Bruce Campbell, Philadelphia, as the borough's new consulting engineer. The move was made after much discussion prior to Tuesday's meeting about the council's dissatisfaction with the work of the New Jersey firm.

In other council business, an appropriation of $600 was approved for the purchase of Christmas lights for the borough.

Borough Manager Ted Cramer was authorized to advertise for bids for traffic signal equipment and mast arm poles. This equipment will be installed on Brown and Prospect Streets.

Unanimous approval was given to a proposal that would have the borough make necessary repairs on streets where sanitary sewers were installed for which the borough would be reimbursed by the contractor in the amount he would receive for the work under his contract. Arthur Dolue was hired to perform the work.

McLain youngest since '44 to receive MVP award

NEW YORK (UPI)—Denny McLain, the 31-game winner for the world champion Detroit Tigers, was named by the Baseball Writers Association of America (BBWAA) Tuesday as its unanimous selection as the American League's Most Valuable Player for 1968.

"I got goose pimples all over," McLain said when informed of the award by Detroit General Manager Jim Campbell.

The 24-year-old McLain is the youngest player to receive the award since 1944, when Hal Newhouse was named. It was also the first time since Newhouse that a Tiger won the honor, and the first time an American league player had won both the MVP and the Cy Young Award, which goes to the top pitcher.

Teammate Bill Freehan was the only other player named on every ballot, for the first 10 choices, cast by the 20 members of the BBWAA voting committee composed of two writers in each AL city.

Freehan was second in the voting, Boston's Ken Harrelson third, Tiger Willie Horton fourth and Baltimore's Dave McNally and Cleveland's Luis Tiant tied for fifth.

"It's a great feeling. I don't feel I have to say more than that, especially since it was unanimous," McLain said of his MVP selection.

"A lot of guys on our club deserve it. I feel very fortunate that I was picked."

McLain also was a unanimous choice for the Cy Young Award last week.

McLain revealed that sometime during the season he set a goal to win the Cy Young award, "but this is really something. I did not expect it. I really feel good about it."

McLain is the first pitcher in either league to be a unanimous selection since the awards began in 1931, according to Jack Lang, secretary-treasurer of the BBWAA.

Only five other players were unanimous choices — Hank Greenberg of Detroit in 1935,

Al Rosen of Cleveland in 1953, Mickey Mantle of New York in 1956, Frank Robinson of Batti-more in 1966, all in the American League; and Orlando Cepeda of St. Louis in 1967 in the National League.

The only others ever to win the Cy Young and MVP in the same year were both in the National League—Don Newcombe of Brooklyn in 1956 and Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles in 1963.

In all, 27 players were mentioned by the committee with McLain getting the maximum 280 points compared to 161 for Freehan. The Tigers had three players in the top five and four in the top 10 with Dick McAuliffe seventh, Mickey Lolich, the Tigers' three-game winner in their World Series victory over St. Louis, got no mention. The MVP ballots were cast before the Series began.

During the 1968 season, McLain had successive win streaks of five, four, nine seven and six games. He was 17-2 on the road and 14-1 in Detroit. He allowed 241 hits and 63 bases on balls in 336 innings, struck out 280 batters and recorded six shutouts. He went the route in 28 of his 41 starts.

MVP Award second for Denny's wife

NEW YORK (UPI)—His wife Sharyn was too young in 1948 to be expected to recall much about one Most Valuable Player selection in her family then, so Denny McLain gave her another one Tuesday.

The 24-year-old Detroit Tiger pitcher, already recipient of the Cy Young award as the major leagues' best hurler in recognition of his 31-6 record, was chosen unanimously by the Baseball Writers Association of America Tuesday as the 1968 American League MVP.

When Denny married his wife in October 1963, she was Sharyn Boudreau—daughter of former Cleveland shortstop Lou Boudreau, who got the MVP honor in 1948.

"It surprised me. I got goose pimples all over when Jim Campbell, my general manager, called me yesterday late in the afternoon and told me about it," said McLain, the major's first 30-game winner since 1934.

Detroit catcher Bill Freehan was the only other player listed on the top 10 ballots of each of the 20 American League sports writers participating in the poll. He finished second in the voting, ahead of Boston's Ken Harrelson, Detroit's Willie Horton, Baltimore's Dave McNally and Cleveland's Luis Tiant.

But the MVP award—"this was really something, especially since it was unanimous I really feel good about it. A lot of guys on our club deserve it. I feel very fortunate that I was picked," McLain said.

McLain is the first pitcher in either league to receive a unanimous vote for the honor, the first AL hurler ever to win both the Cy Young and MVP in the same year, the first Detroit player to win the MVP since Hal Newhouse in both 1944 and 1945, and the youngest winner since Newhouse in 1944—the year Denny was born.

The only other pitchers to win both the Cy Young and MVP in the same year were Don Newcombe in 1956 and Sandy Koufax in 1963—both in the National League.

Detroit placed three men in the top five in the voting and four in the top seven. In all, seven Tigers were among the 27 men nominated for the award.

Mel Stottlemyre finished 10th, the first Yankee to finish in the top 10 since Tom Tresh finished ninth in 1965.

Mickey Lolich, who pitched the Tigers to three of their four World Series victories over St. Louis, got no mention in the voting. The ballots were cast before the Series began.

Three-way tie in grid contest

STROUDSBURG — Three persons tied for first place honors in last week's Record Football Contest with one wrong and a point guess of 51.

Splitting the money were Angela Fitzsimmons, 1001 Queen St., Stroudsburg; Robert Goucher, 53 Lenox Ave., East Stroudsburg and Harry Fuqua, Tobyhanna.

Hatfield returning to pro ball

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)—Former major league infielder Fred Hatfield, saying he was "just itching to get back into pro ball," announced Tuesday he had resigned as baseball coach at Florida State University to return to the professional ranks.

"Some people will wonder why I'm giving up the best college coaching job in the country," said Hatfield, whose Seminole teams have compiled a 161-57 record in five years. "But pro baseball is in my blood. It's something I can't get out," explained Hatfield, who earned the nickname "old scrap iron" for his scrappy style of play as a big leaguer.

He said he was considering two offers and would make a final decision within a week. He did not say whether the offers were as a player or a coach.

"For the past two years I've been itching to get back into pro ball," said the coach, who managed minor league clubs following his playing days with the Boston Red Sox, Detroit Tigers, Chicago White Sox and Cincinnati Reds.

"I guess all old pro ball players have the same ultimate goal—to manage a big league club," he said.

In four of the five years Hatfield directed Florida State's diamond fortunes, the Seminoles won a spot in the District 3 NCAA playoffs.

Eagles obtain Ron Norton

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Philadelphia Eagles on Tuesday picked up defensive tackle Ron Norton from the Atlanta Falcons on waivers.

Norton, a 6-4, 254-pound four-year veteran in the National Football League, was acquired to plug a gap in a defensive line weakened by injuries to Floyd Peters, Randy Beisler and Frank Moulton.

Flyers name Van Impe captain

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Philadelphia Flyers announced the selection of Ed Van Impe Tuesday as team captain.

The defenseman had been an alternate captain. Bud Poole, general manager, said left wing Jean Guy Gendron will replace Van Impe as an alternate captain. Other alternate captains are Defenseman Dick Cherry and Allan Stanley.

Coach visits star

Kansas City Chiefs' quarterback Len Dawson, who injured his right thigh, talks with coach Hank Stram (R) and other visitors in his hospital room Tuesday. Dawson was injured in the Oakland game Sunday after being knocked into a goal post by the Raiders. Dawson threw a pass before being hurt which resulted in a 92-yard scoring play. He may not be able to play the upcoming game with Cincinnati.

Spokesman confirms sale of Senators

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A spokesman for the Washington Senators confirmed Tuesday the impending sale of the American League baseball club for $10.5 million.

Robert E. Short, treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, and chain foodstore executive Jeno F. Paulucci reportedly were in agreement with club owners on the purchase price.

The spokesman said Short and Paulucci were among four groups that have been bidding on the franchise.

Left in the air by the sale of the team would be the status of George Selkirk, whose contract as general manager runs through 1970, and of field manager Jim Lemon, whose contract expires after next season.

An associate of Short said he planned to take over as the new president of the Senators before Dec. 1 and replace Selkirk with a new general manager.

Current co-owners of the team are James H. Lemon and the James M. Johnston estate. An agreement apparently was reached on Lemon's request for long-term assurance that the Washington franchise would not be moved to another city.

The team has been in Washington since 1960, when the American League awarded the franchise to a group of 10 businessmen for $3 million after the former Washington franchise was moved to Minnesota. Three years later, Lemon and Johnston purchased the team for $4.6 million.

The Senators finished last this year. The highest they have finished since 1960 was a tie for sixth in 1967.

S-burg girls lose first

EASTON — The unbeaten Easton High girls' field hockey team ruined Stroudsburg's hopes for an unbeaten season Tuesday with a 2-1 victory in the final game for the losers.

Stroudsburg, which finished with a 6-1-3 record, scored on a goal by Susan Warner. Judy Fish accounted for both Easton scores.

In the junior varsity game goals by Gerry Messner, Sharon Hopkins and Lee Massie led the S-burg JV's to a 3-0 victory.

Lamonica now third in passing

NEW YORK (UPI)—If the Oakland Raiders wind up in the Super Bowl again this year, they can give a lot of credit to the trade that brought quarterback Daryle Lamonica from the Buffalo Bills.

Lamonica, who came from Buffalo in 1967 in exchange for Art Powell and Tom Flores, completed 18 passes for 352 yards Sunday as the Raiders snapped the Kansas City Chiefs' six-game winning streak 38-21. After a wrenched knee removed Lamonica from the game in the third quarter, veteran George Blanda took over for another 129 yards passing and a new American Football League one game total of 469.

The impressive showing moved Lamonica into third place among the league's passers behind John Hadl of San Diego and Len Dawson of Kansas City. And the closest Western Division race in AFL history probably will be decided on arms of this trio.

Hadl has completed 122 of 238 passes for 51.3 per cent and 17 touchdowns while Dawson, the league's most accurate passer with 58.7 per cent, has hit 81 of 138 for 1,187 yards and seven TDs. Lamonica, voted the league's Most Valuable Player last season by AFL coaches, has completed 199 of 237 for 1,792 yards and 16 touchdowns.

Oakland boasts the leading rusher in Hewitt Dixon, who has carried 132 times for 607 yards. Paul Robinson of Cincinnati is second with 590 yards on 131 tries and Dick Post of San Diego is next with 95 for 561 yards.

George Sauer of the New York Jets is first among receivers with 46 catches for 750 yards, followed by San Diego's Lance Alworth with 45 for 931 yards.

Cards face New York in spring opener

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—National League pennant champion St. Louis Cardinals will open their spring-training season against the New York Mets at St. Petersburg, March 4, it was announced Tuesday.

The Cardinals will play four games with the Detroit Tigers, the American League club which beat the Cardinals in the World Series. The two clubs will meet March 22 at St. Petersburg; March 23 at Lakeland, and on April 2 and April 3 for games at St. Petersburg.

The Cardinals will wind up the training season with two games with the Kansas City Royals April 5 and April 6 at Kansas City.

Manager Red Schoendienst's club will be aiming for their third consecutive pennant in 1969. In training, the Cards will meet the Mets five times, and will meet the Philadelphia Phillies, and Tigers, in four games; Pittsburgh Pirates and Boston Red Sox, three games; Cincinnati Reds, Minnesota Twins and Kansas City, two games; and Baltimore Orioles, Los Angeles Dodgers and Chicago White Sox, one game.

In the 1968 season, the National League will be split into Eastern and Western Divisions.

Pocono Mountain features quality audio-visual aides

SWIFTWATER — The Pocono Mountain School District's array of Audio-Visual equipment is both formidable and impressive for a school district of its size.

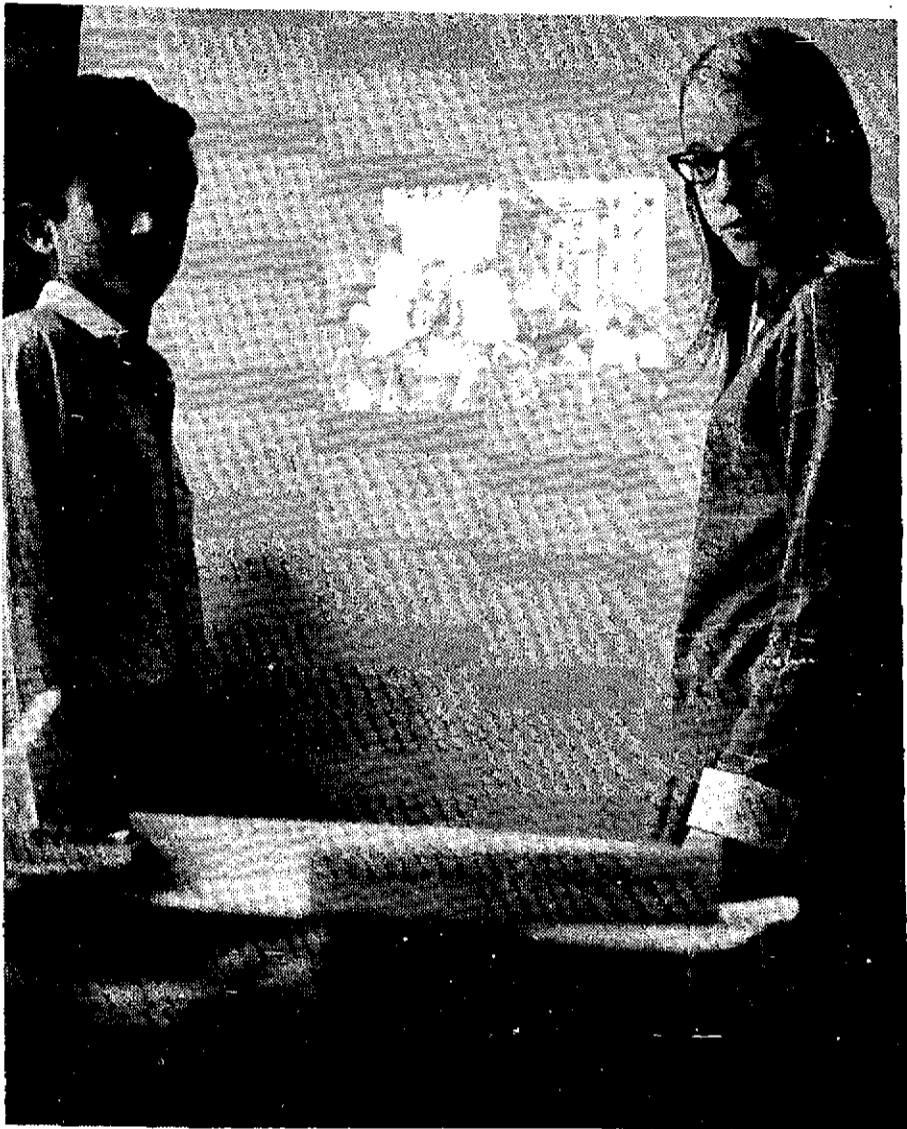

It stresses quality and quantity, and like the pupils who will benefit from this versatile and highly competitive display of technological wizardry, it will nourish and grow under the guiding hand of Roy Seems, the school district's media specialist.

Currently the district houses 233 A-V machines and equipment, representing a broad spectrum of informational media. The machines and equipment have been placed in the high school and the five elementary schools.

They include two TV cameras, two video tape recorders, 14, 16-mm projectors, 35-mm filmstrip projectors, 25 overhead projectors, four opaque projectors, 43 screens, four rear view screens, and 33 tape recorders.

Also, eight projector stands, three TV sets, six TV monitors, five controlled readers and two microfilm readers.

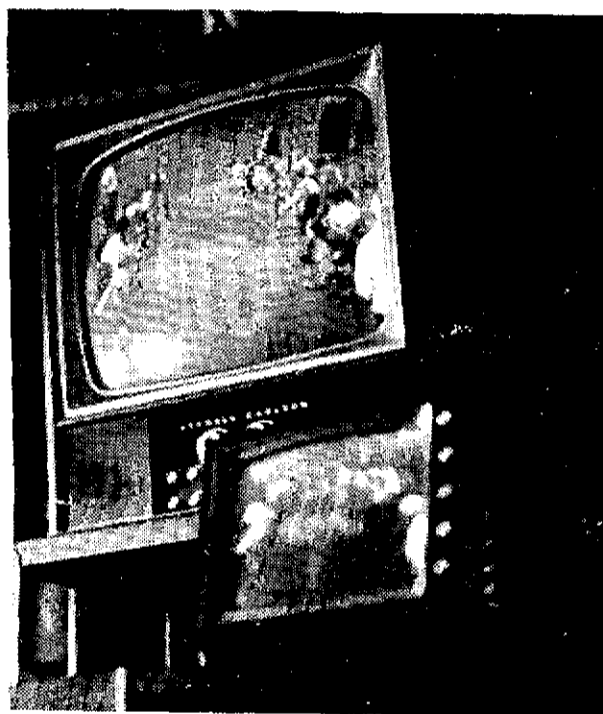

Two Pocono Mountain Junior High School students, Jose Marrero and Denise Larsen look back at the projector as it flashes the filmstrip on the wall.

Paul G. Waring

SHARPE ARMY DEPOT, Calif. — When SP4 Paul G. Waring was released from active duty in the U. S. Army October 23 it was on a note of high honor. The son of choral and orchestra leader Fred Waring was awarded the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster in ceremonies at Sharpe Army Depot, Calif., for meritorious achievement while serving in Vietnam.

Waring, 22, who served as a crew chief on an OH-23 helicopter in Vietnam with the Fourth Infantry Division received the award for flights in support of ground forces in the period from Jan. 23 to Aug. 16, 1967. He participated in more than 25 aerial missions over hostile territory. Upon leaving the service, Waring naturally headed for Pennsylvania where he will join his father's Pennsylvaniaans at Shawnee-on-Deleware.

$5,000 verdict to woman

STROUDSBURG — Miss Margaret Ann Hoover, 345 Main St., Stroudsburg, Monday was awarded $5,000 for damages sustained when she was struck by a motorcycle while standing on her sister's porch on Main St., Stroudsburg.

The defendant in the suit was James N. Norris, driver of the vehicle which struck Miss Hoover on July 16, 1966.

The jury returned the verdict and the sum of the award after spending slightly more than one hour in deliberation.

Monroe County Judge Arlington W. Williams accepted the verdict.

Percy Harris, Bronx, N.Y., entered a plea of guilty to use of marijuana drugs just prior to the selection of a jury which was to hear the case. Judge Fred W. Davis accepted the plea.

Judge Davis fined Harris $300 plus the cost of the proceedings. Use of dangerous drugs is listed as a misdemeanor.

Harris was arrested August 17, 1967, along with William Battle, 37, and Georgia Morris, 38, and charged with possession and control of dangerous drugs and narcotics. At the time all three persons gave their address as 28 N. Kistler St., East Stroudsburg.

Battle and Morris were tried earlier this year.

The case for the commonwealth was to have been argued by Monroe County District Attorney Phillip H. Williams. Defense council was Milton Leidner, Philadelphia.

In other court action Monday, the trial involving the trespass action of Mae E. Strunk vs. Silvio and Amelia Falato and Beverly Jean Rode.

Mrs. Strunk, 1066 West Main St., Stroudsburg, is asking for damages which she claims to have suffered in an automobile accident on July 23, 1967.

At the time of the accident, Mrs. Strunk was a passenger in a car being driven by her daughter, Mrs. Beverly Jean Rode, Stroudsburg.

The accident occurred at the corner of Fourth and McConnell St., Stroudsburg. Mrs. Strunk testified that the Rode vehicle was traveling west on McConnell and that the auto driven by Silvio Falato, Emerson, N.J., ran the stop sign at the intersection at Fourth St. and that the Rode vehicle struck his car.

Mrs. Strunk was the only witness to testify during Monday's session. She described how the accident happened and also told the court of the injuries and pain which she suffered and for which she is now seeking compensation.

Council for Mrs. Strunk is Edwin Kravitz and defense attorneys are J. Joseph McCluskey and J.C. Scanlon.

The Strunk trial is being presided by Judge Fred W. Davis. The trial will continue today and is the only trial which is expected to be held until Wednesday.

Judge Williams will be presiding in election court today and will be unable to hold trial court.

Serving on the Strunk jury are Roy Heller Sr. and Clinton E. Warner, both of Stroudsburg; F. Berne LaBar and Ralph C. Schaller, both of East Stroudsburg; Lloyd Post and Fred C. Williams, both of Hamilton Twp.; Lewis H. Borth, Smithfield Twp.; George I. Butz, Stroud Twp.; Alvin Cardozo, Coolbaugh Twp.; Arthur Carcy, Mount Pocono; Donald C. Mader, Paradise Twp.; and Howard A. Speck, Pocono Twp.

Serving on the Hoover jury were Conrad Terboss and F. Berne LaBar, both of East Stroudsburg; Everlina Jones and Alvin Cardozo, both of Coolbaugh Twp.; George I. Butz and Oscar W. Barry Jr., both of Stroud Twp.; Shirley Murray and Lillian Zepel both of Mount Pocono; Earl Arnold, Stroudsburg; Howard Hartshorn, Jackson Twp.; Jane S. Joseph, Smithfield Twp.; and Tilghman A. Berger, Eldred Twp.

Deeds recorded

STROUDSBURG — The following deeds were recorded in the Monroe County Register and Recorder's office:

EAST STROUDSBURG — George D. Heiss, executor of the estate of Hilda W. Heiss, late of East Stroudsburg, to Henry and Julie McMahon, East Stroudsburg.

COOLBAUGH Township — Pocono Farms, Tobyhanna R.D. 1, to Joseph and Regina Meross, North Plainfield, N.J.

DONALD R. HARMER — Results Engineer

Everybody's Business

Former area resident in new PP&L position

STROUDSBURG — Donald R. Harmer of Whitehall Twp., an engineer in Generation, System Power and Engineering Department with Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. in Allentown, has been named results engineer in that department.

He joined PP&L as a graduate trainee in 1963. The following year he became engineer in generation at PP&L's Stanton Steam Electric Plant and later that year was transferred to the Hollywood hydroelectric station in the same capacity.

Born in Chicago, Mr. Harmer spent his early years in the Midwest and attended school in Michigan. He later moved to Stroudsburg, where he graduated from high school. He is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University where he received a B.S. in mechanical engineering in 1963 and a masters degree in business administration in 1968.

Harmer was granted an educational leave of absence in 1966 and returned to the company in 1967 as an engineer in generation at Allentown.

Harmer has also studied at Franklin & Marshall College's Evening School and taken computer courses with Leeds and Northrup Co. Computer School at North Wales, Pa.

He is presently project director for Zeta Psi social fraternity in the building of its $250,000 fraternity building at The Pennsylvania State University.

He is the son of Robert Harmer of Stroudsburg.

Change in ownership

STATE COLLEGE — The Downtown Motor Inn in State College, will become a Sheraton Motor Inn, it was announced by Chris Contogouris, president of Consolidated Motor Inns, Inc., owners of the property, and Gerard C. Henderson, president of Sheraton Inns, Inc.

The five-story Sheraton Motor Inn has 100 guest rooms

Green Thumb

Guard mums against suffocation

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

Record Garden Correspondent
HOW TO WINTER MUMS: What's the best way to keep garden mums over winter?

One reason why mums die over winter is not cold, but water building up around the roots. More mums winterkill in heavy clay soils than in sandy ones.

The reason: water builds up around the base, excluding oxygen and the plants suffocate. Another reason: heaving due to freezing and thawing will actually lift plants out of the ground, breaking roots and killing the plants.

Here are a few tricks to try for overwintering your mums:

(1) Dig the clumps up and place them along the foundation of your house. Cover the roots with a little soil and keep them somewhat moistened to prevent them from completely drying out.

(2) Or you can dig up the clumps and place them in a cold frame. Pack them close including luxury and hospitality suites. Facilities include a dining room seating 95, a cocktail lounge for 40, banquet accommodations for groups up to 100, and a swimming pool.

The present building will be totally renovated including all rooms, halls, and banquet areas. In addition, the lobby, dining room, and cocktail lounge will be completely redesigned and redecored with completion scheduled by Jan. 1.

Coca-Cola upheld

SCRANTON — United States District Judge William J. Nealon, for the Middle District of Pennsylvania, at Scranton, entered final judgment against Farm House, Inc., a corporation doing business as Schindler's and Schindler's Restaurant and Cocktail Lounge at 461 North 21st St., Camp Hill, Pa.

The defendant was enjoined from:

(a) Selling or supplying on calls for "Coca-Cola" or "Coke" any product other than plaintiff's product.

(b) Selling or offering for sale in response to orders for "Coca-Cola" or "Coke" any other product not the plaintiff's without first giving the customer verbal notice that he is being sold a product other than that manufactured by plaintiff.

(c) Doing any other act or thing which is reasonably calculated to aid or encourage passing off any product not that of "The Coca-Cola Company" on calls or orders for "Coca-Cola" or "Coke."

Profit for Allegheny

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Allegheny Airlines reported a third quarter operating profit of $720,000 and a net loss of $589,000, as compared to an operating loss of $126,000 and a net loss of $1,395,000 for the same quarter of 1967.

On July 1, 1968, Lake Central Airlines, a local service airline operating in the Mid-West, was merged into Allegheny. The 1967 comparative figures reflect the combined results of the two companies for this period. Lake Central had reported a net loss of $2,425,000 for the six months prior to merging with Allegheny.

together and keep the soil slightly dampened. On real sunny days in winter, open the sash a bit to prevent sunburning. In spring, you can separate the clumps and start new plants by divisions or cuttings.

(3) Or you can dig the plants up and place them on top of the ground. Cover with corn-stalks, evergreen boughs, or coarse straw.

Do not cut the tops off the plants. Leave them on to catch falling leaves and snow, which help protect the plants.

CARE OF FLORIST AZALEAS: Be sure to bring your azalea indoors before hard frost. Store plant in a cool (40 to 50 degrees) light place, such as a sun porch or bedroom. Water enough to keep soil from drying out completely.

In January or February, bring plant in to a sunny window, temperature about 60 degrees and increase the watering. Feed with a liquid

Heart beat sounded for benefit

EAST STROUDSBURG — Phoenix Players are working hard to set up the stage for the Heart Benefit show, "Light Up The Sky."

The production will be staged Friday and Saturday nights in East Stroudsburg State College Auditorium.

The setting has been designed by Robert Howell and built by Lenore Davis and a crew of Mr. and Mrs. Osmon Ramsey, Bernice Levin, Dan Kender, Tony Belfiore, Kris Williams, Lynne and Laurie Hariton, Barbara McMahon, Katchie Cartwright, and Ellen Leeds.

The set decorations and properties crews include Jacquelyn Levergood, Nancy Hilliard, Julie McMahon, Vicky Meyers, Irene Phillips, Ellen Leeds, and Pat McDonald.

Russell Ratsch is in charge of lighting and is aided by Dan Kueler.

Stage managers are Osman Ramsey and Tony Belfiore with Kathy Allegor, Jackie Kintner, and Nancy Hilliard as script girls.

Portugese line to link continents

LISBON (AP) — A new Portuguese navigation line for cargo and passengers between Portuguese East Africa and northern Europe will be created in the near future, the president of the Companhia Nacional de Navegacao, Jose Rodrigues dos Santos, has announced.

The announcement indicated that Rhodesia and South Africa, allies of Portugal in Africa, would benefit from the new line.

One ship to be used for it is the "Nacala," a cargo built in Osaka, Japan, in 1966 and formerly named the "Hunan" of the China Navigation Co. Ltd. of London.

The 16,755-ton "Nacala" is the first of three ships the Portuguese company intends to buy for the new service.

The announcement indicated that Rhodesia and South Africa, allies of Portugal in Africa, would benefit from the new line.

Excavation site covers older ruins

COIMBRA, Portugal (AP) — Archeologists are making rapid headway in uncovering the ruins of ancient Coimbra, one of the largest Roman cities on the Iberian Peninsula.

The excavation of Coimbra, 10 miles southeast of this central Portuguese university town, was begun at the end of the last century under the patronage of Queen Amelia of Portugal.

The place now has been discovered to have been built on top of an Iron Age settlement. It was razed by the invading Suevo tribes in 468 A.D.

The most recent find was the main public baths.

Barnard hits nurse-clerks

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — Heart transplant pioneer Prof. Christiaan Barnard told a graduating class of nurses that nursing was a dying profession. Barnard said nurses were becoming little more than "medical clerks" with more and more of the real work being carried out by nurses aides and other assistants.

plant food such as 23-19-17 and you should get blooms in about five weeks. Key to repeat blooming each year is cool period in fall so buds can develop.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: A reader writes: "I dug up our geraniums and brought them indoors. Plants are three feet tall. How can we start new ones for next year?"

Answer: Take cuttings four inches long and insert them into a box of moist sand, sand-pot mixture, perlite, or vermiculite. These will root in three or four weeks. After that put them up in a soil mixture of one-third each sand, peat and loam. The mother plants can be cut back about half way and these too will bush out into respectable specimens by the time spring rolls around.

If the leaves on your geraniums turn yellow and drop off, blame it on high temperature, overwatering, poor drainage or lack of light.

Your tax problems

"Your Tax Problems" is published as a public service and is prepared by the Philadelphia District Office of the Internal Revenue Service. Send queries to the Internal Revenue Service Public Information Office, P. O. Box 12805, Philadelphia, Pa. 19108. For personal replies give name and address.

Q. What's this business about an amnesty period for registering firearms? I didn't know firearms had to be registered with IRS?

A. Certain gangster-type weapons such as machine guns, sawed-off shotguns, short barreled rifles and silencers have been required to be registered with IRS since 1934 when the National Firearms Act was passed.

The amnesty period from Nov. 2 to Dec. 1 permits anyone who owns a gangster-type weapon and has violated the law by not registering it, to register it without penalty during the 30-day amnesty period. Grenades, bombs, land mines and other destructive devices should also be registered during this period.

The Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division of IRS has the responsibility for administering the gun control laws and can give you the details on registering these weapons. Your local IRS office can give you and address of the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax office nearest you.

Q. I'm a free lance writer and one of the magazines to which I have sold a story wants my Social Security number. Have they a right to ask for it?

A. Yes, payments to self-employed persons need to be identified by the Social Security number of the recipient when they amount to $600 or more. These are reported to IRS on Form 1099 just as a bank reports interest payments to us.

Q. My return went through OK this year and I got my refund a month or so later. Is it true I can still be audited and have to pay additional tax?

A. Yes, IRS generally has three years from the due date of a return to make whatever checks might be necessary to assure that income and expense items are accurately reported and to assess additional taxes. For this reason it is advisable to keep tax records for at least three years.

It usually takes about 5-6 weeks to process a return calling for a refund. In that time it is only possible to make sure the return is complete, the arithmetic is accurate and that the taxpayer is not filing a duplicate refund claim or has an outstanding tax liability.

Q. On a job overseas will I have to pay foreign income tax and ours too?

A. It depends on where you work and the circumstances of your employment. The U. S. has agreements with many countries to ease the problem of double taxation. A U. S. citizen may also, in many cases, be able to take a credit or a deduction on his U. S. income tax return for the foreign income taxes he pays.

Under certain conditions all or part of the income earned abroad may be exempt from Federal taxation. For details on this send a post card to your District Director requesting Publication 54, "Tax Guide for U. S. Citizens Abroad."

Q. My baby is due the end of the month. When can my husband start taking another withholding exemption?

A. As soon as the child is born. The full $500 exemption for a dependent may be taken on your tax return for a child born any time before the end of the year.

Your Horoscope By Francis Drake

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)

— Take a hint if it is a good one. Wise words come from thinking minds, so go in that direction to find them.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — You may feel "between the devil and the deep blue sea," as the old saying goes, but this only if NOT using all your faculties and know-how.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — A day that calls for serious thought that not taking yourself too seriously. Living up to your high ideals and following wise procedures, you can put yourself in line for real gains.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Emotions could get out of hand unless you are determined to keep them under control. Lack of self-mastery could hinder your own ends.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Regular and new tasks may both bring problems, but they can be straightened out with patience and sufficient care to avoid errors. Rack intuition with more knowledge.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — It will be well to handle all matters discreetly now, slowing down where a tendency to hurry exists, and not provoking useless argument.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Don't let your zeal without just because you may be faced with difficulties. Study problems carefully with your innate common sense and good judgment, and you should solve all.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Your personality, if at its highest level, could win many friends now. But, both your best efforts, support worthy causes, and most upon integrity of method.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Get the other fellow's point of view BEFORE determining yours — to be better informed. Jupiter stimulates high-powered action.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Your aspects more favorable than those of the majority now but, by the same token, you will be hearing, mixing with, others who don't feel up to par. So stress calmness and mastery of self!

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — It will be important now to maintain balance and perk up your attitude and possibly your schedule. Keep alert to new trends, good advice.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Both executives and employees have numerous issues to work out now. Constructive measures can be further improved, and a serene manner of approach is urged.

YOU BORN TODAY are surely among the do-ers, not just the dreamers. But you have your moments for dreaming too. However, the Scorpio nature must achieve, keep reaching out for new heights, so your dreams often materialize in unexpected action, and you can catch others off guard with bright ideas and unusual plans. Strengthen your good points, eliminate anything unworthy of your grand talents, and your route to success and real happiness will be paved smoothly. You can cooperate or go it alone, but the latter is not always wise. Birthdate of John Philip Sousa, composer, bandmaster, Mike Nichols, stage and film director.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. (1-6)

JACK O'BRIAN'S

New York's Voice of Broadway

NEW YORK — Art Carney had to leave the original Broadway cast of Brian Friel's smash play "The Lovers" because of television commitments but he'll head a national company in January . . . The nation will get a fine, sensitive, intelligent Irish play with Carney in his finest role ever . . . "Funny Girl" producer Ray Stark reportedly has bought an Atlanta, Ga. theatre group stage production titled "Red, Hot and Maddox" for Broadway; folks who saw it in Atlanta tell us it's hilarious.

A special squad of 50 former FBI experts has been recruited by Louis Nichols, assistant FBI director for many years, and they are preparing 100,000 poll-watchers for Election Day . . . They will keep a close eye on voting in key districts in Illinois, Texas and New Jersey where GOP suspicions of voting daisy-doubling have been asserted in the past . . . Gloria Swanson told us backstage at a Dick Cavett television taping that lots of the best things that have happened to her have been over her protestations: "I didn't want to do 'Sunset Boulevard,' did you know that?" the ageless glamor diva asked.

Freeman talks bluntly to farmers, backs price support payments

READING — Orville L. Freeman, U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, addressing farmers and consumers during a public meeting at Rajah Temple in Reading, said there is no time left for anything but straight, blunt talk; talk that may even offend some people.

About 40 local farmers and agricultural agency officials from the Monroe County area were among the more than 1,000 persons who listened to Freeman's "warning to the farmers of this Nation that I feel I have a responsibility to make as their secretary of agriculture."

"We cannot solve space age problems with pious platitudes about the good old days" in answer to those opposing apparent socialist trends and demanding a "return to the free enterprise system of our forefathers," Freeman said.

Freeman cited a farmer who had said that supply and demand is better than price supports, that he never got anything out of it.

Freeman questioned the thought of this farmer as being in complete contradiction of the facts.

"Here in Pennsylvania, the dairy industry is second only to the steel industry as a source of income. Your state ranks first, as you know, in ice cream production," Freeman noted.

Freeman said the dairy price support program and the federal milk order program have raised prices to levels affecting the economic well-being of the Pennsylvania dairy farmer.

In his facts of the Pennsylvania dairy farmer, Freeman included, $385 million from sale of milk and cream last year; support price increase to $1.04 per hundredweight the last three years; order prices today are generally one dollar per hundredweight more than three years ago; present support price of $1.28 per hundredweight is nearly 90 per cent of parity.

Freeman outlined other Federal program assistance in Pennsylvania agriculture, emphasizing "assistance." "Farm programs are not welfare programs. They are designed to help farmers help themselves, in the total national interest," Freeman said.

The basic commodity programs, designed to stabilize farm income and keep market supplies in line with demand have been recognized by farmers to prevent surpluses from piling up again.

"In 1967, more than 21,000 Pennsylvania farmers took part in the voluntary feed grain program and earned $9.4 million in diversion and price support payments. Nearly 15,000 participated in the wheat program and received $3.7 million in diversion and certificate payments," Freeman said.

"I don't think there's any question but that these programs played a major role in raising Pennsylvania farm income to a record $985 million last year and they will play a major role in helping Pennsylvania farmers reach the one billion dollars in gross income I predict for the first time in history this year," Freeman said.

Freeman also noted the importance and value of conservation programs and projects of the Agricultural Conservation Program and Soil Conservation Service.

Freeman said the programs that help farmers help themselves are worth saving and are in danger from the "growing anti-farm program bloc" in Congress which have introduced no less than 23 bills to do away with the wheat and feed grain programs.

AUTOMATIC 2-speed model

$79.95

Solid State Control

Features two-speed output control (900 and 1100 RPM fan speed), "water wheel" filter belt, 8 1/2 gal. on rust-proof polypropylene reservoir, automatic humidistat by Minneapolis-Honeywell. Humidification capacity over 2500 sq. ft. (14003)

"WATER WHEEL" FILTER BELT soaks up water like a giant sponge . . . actually helps clean itself as it revolves in water reservoir. Inorganic, can't rot away.

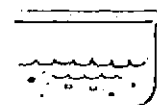

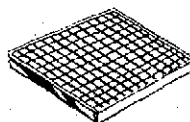

CONVENIENT FILLING

Tilt-out panel for handy filling from front. Large filler spout funnels water directly into reservoir.

Cabinets of both models are protected by an epoxy-phenolic heat converted coating that prevents rust and corrosion.

Rugged Polystyrene grilles control direction of air flow . . . Won't rust, dent or corrode.

RUST-PROOF 8 1/2 gal. water reservoir never corrodes.

"SUMMER COVER"

(Solid State model only) Helps protect unit all summer, hangs out-of-the-way in winter. Vinyl finish matches humidifier exterior.
